FIRST PRIZE IN EPSOM DERBY POOL ABOUT $650,000

Brokerage Firm Manager
Holder of Ticket Had Retained Only an Eighth and Gets About $81,000.

$150,000 TO LONDON
WOMAN ON SECOND

Coronach, Owned by Lord Woolavington, Wins the Famous English Turf
Classic in Driving Rain.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 2.—Robert Bishop, 50-year-old departmental manager of a brokerage firm, who was first prize in the rich Calcutta sweepstakes on the Epsom Derby today, retained only one-eighth of the ticket for himself. The eighth of the ticket was worth about $81,250.

He sold half his share for about £7000 and later disposed of three-quarters of the remainder, for an unrevealed amount.

The Derby, blue ribbon classic of English racing, was won by Lord Woolavington's Coronach, in the rain. W. Singer's Lancashire was second and Lord Derby's candidate,
Colorado, the favorite, was third.

Bishop was hard at work in his office while the race was being run and was so busy that he could not discuss his good luck with reporters. He has a son 14 years old and a girl 8.

Intends to Continue Work.

In the few words that he had with reporters he said that he intends to continue work until he is too old to stay on the job.

Bishop is employed by the firm of Hartley Cropper & Co., shipping
brokers of London.

Miss Barr, a 20-year-old woman,
drew Lancashire in the sweepstakes,
and won about £30,000, or roughly $150,000. She heard the news at a motion picture theater and was overcome. Later she went out to get a cup of tea.

Cyril Sillman, who drew Colorado in the Calcutta Sweepstakes, was reported to have sold half his share in the favorite for £20,000.

The ticket won £30,000 in the sweep, so Sillman carried off a total of £50,000 (about $175,000).

C. J. Harris, a clerk in a Midland Bank, drew Colorado in the Stock Exchange Sweepstakes. He sold half his share for £8000. The ticket won from £10,000 to £15-000.

Sale of Tickets Limited.

The Sweepstakes in both the Calcutta and London Stock Exchange Sweeps were confined to members of the respective organizations, but there was no bar
against purchases made by them for outsiders. The Stock Exchange Sweep was limited and was expected to pay about £60,000 sterling to the holder of the winning horse, £50,000 to second and about £10-000 for third.

The Calcutta was unlimited and the tickets were scattered months in advance by post and cable. First prize this year won about £130,000 sterling ($650,000); second £60,000
and £30,000.

Coronach, a chestnut colt, cantered over the finish line five lengths ahead in the field of 19.
He was quoted at odds of 11 to 2 against. Lancashire, which finished a short head in front of Colorado, was a 4 to 1 shot, while Colorado was quoted at 2 to 1 against.

The race, over a distance of one and one-half miles, 29 yards, carried stakes valued at nearly $60-000. Children had the leg up on the winner.

The Favorite Finishes Third.

Lord Derby's Colorado, at 2 to 1 against, started the hottest favorite the Derby has known for many years. He is reported to have carried nearly $100,000 of backers'
money, as he had been generally picked by the experts as a sure winner.

Coronach also was heavily backed, but it was a great day for the bookmakers, who had been trembling at the prospective catastrophe for them if Colorado came home first.

Notwithstanding the deluge,
scores of thousands, including the King and Queen, braved the storm
to witness the classic.

From a rather ragged start,
Coronach settled down in front of Sir G. Bulough's Harpagon. Colorado, J. Hornum's Apple Sammy and Le Gros, which is owned jointly by P. Gilpin and J. Blenkiron.

Coming down the hill from Tat-tenham corner, Coronach was still leading, while Colorado (half brother of the famous American horse Carlisle) had gone up to

5 YEARS FOR FAILURE TO PAY TAXES ON BOOTLEG PROFITS

Appellate Court Reverses Itself
and Sends C. J. Steinberg of New York to Prison.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Charles J. Steinberg, the first bootlegger to be prosecuted for failure to pay income tax on the profits of his business, must spend five years in the Federal prison at Atlanta and pay a $10,000 fine, by order of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which reversed its previous decision setting his conviction aside.

Steinberg was charged in the original indictment with paying a tax of only $424.53 in 1920-21, whereas it was said he should have paid $500,000 on a "drug"
business, said to have been actually a bootlegging enterprise, aggregating $1,500,000.

He was found guilty of defrauding the Government and sentenced in 1925, but the sentence was set aside. United States District Attorney Buckner then moved for reconsideration, which was granted and resulted in affirmation
yesterday of the original sentence.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN DIES AT AGE OF 101 YEARS

Mrs. Louisa Gampe Was Born in Germany and Came to This City in 1903.

Mrs. Louisa Gampe, 101 years old, died last night from the infirmities of age at the home of her son, Nick, 4303 Minnesota avenue.
She will be buried at 2 p. m. Friday in the SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery after services at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Mrs. Gampe was born in Germany. In 1902 she came to St.
Louis with her son, who survives
her. She had been married twice, but both husbands are now dead.

Making Money in Real Estate

Name the millionaires of St.

and that much of their wealth
was made out of in-

The deduction is obvious. If you will show the same faith
in the future growth of St.

reap the same rich reward.

MEET IN COURT INSTEAD OF BESIDE GUSHING OIL WELL

Readers of Preachers' Magazine Testify at Trial of
W. E. Rutledge on Mail Fraud Charge.

EDITOR SEEN BY MANY FOR FIRST TIME

Contact Apparently Painful as Witnesses Testify Promises in Publication
Were Not Fulfilled.

Readers of the Preachers' Magazine are meeting its editor in Federal Court this week. For both readers and editor it is a painful contact, for they had hoped to meet beside a gushing oil well in Kentucky, Illinois, Arkansas or Texas.

The editor, William E. Rutledge, former Baptist preacher, who resides in Kirkwood, is on trial before a jury and Judge Paris, on charges of using the mails to defraud in the sale of stock in his now defunct Economy Oil Co.,
which was capitalized at $5,000-000 and sold $258,000 in stock to 1500 ministers and 500 laymen—
enough to drill several dusty wells in four states. Much of the extravagant oil propaganda was published in the Preachers' Magazine next to texts from St. Luke.

Editor Rutledge is being seen in the flesh for the first time by many of his readers. He is a big man, about six feet tall and weighing 200 pounds. His eyes twinkle and his ruddy face expands into a smile of appreciation when his sermons in oil are delivered in court before an audience that may not agree with his sermons, but has to listen to them nevertheless.

His ruddy face becomes very sad
when testimony indicates that he made promises which hardly could come true and certainly did not come true.

No smoking is permitted in court, but force of habit keeps a sloppy cigar butt between the wide lips that curl downward at the corners as though their owner was about to view with alarm, as he used to when he was a pastor in East St. Louis many years ago.

Altogether Editor Rutledge is a polka figure. His blue and white pajama dot tie harmonizes with his blue suit and soft white collar.
His hair is gray, but he steps lively,
and scarcely looks 64 years old. He now says is his correct age.

Preaching Among Witnesses.

Contrasting with the editor's dress and demeanor are the somber views and garb of his clerical
readers. They have come to St.
Louis from Nebraska, Connecticut,
Mississippi and Minnesota to tell how they sunk their money in oil wells that never gushed. About half of the 65 witnesses summoned by both sides are preachers. They sat together on the spectators'
benches, sizing up the man who sat in the defendant's chair.

The editor's former partner in the oil business, Saunders T. Davis, of 5418 Cabanne avenue, now a watchman at the Arcade Building, was excused from his duties for an hour today long enough to cross
the street and tell his story of the rise and fall of the Economy Oil Co.

Davis said he held an option on acres in Sumner County, Tennessee, in October, 1920, when he met a friend who he described as
"Mr. Dunaway." The friend induced Rutledge and the three became trustees of the oil company.

Was in Charge of Drilling.

Davis became field superintendent in charge of the drilling of wells. He had no previous experience but learned in the field, he said. In Sumner and Allen Counties 22 wells were drilled at a cost of about $34,000, and all but two brought nothing but dust. The two oil producers gave up $92 barrels of oil for which the company received $229.25. Another well, drilled in Texas at a cost of $40-000, was dry.

Davis testified that he received $100 a month and expenses as superintendent, and put $500 into the company.

The editor's daughter, Mrs. Lulu
H. Peary, of Kirkwood, was a witness for the prosecution. She testified, with evident reluctance,
that she was assistant secretary of the Economy Oil Co. and identified records which she helped her father keep.

After Mrs. Peary came several natives of Allen County, Kentucky,
who testified that the Economy Company's leasehold there was several miles from a producing well.

George Andrews, superintendent of the Indian Pipe Line Co., testified that his company was based entirely on the Economy oil property. The prices paid ranged from

HOUSE EXPECTED TO RATIFY FRENCH DEBT SETTLEMENT

Final Vote Approaching—Proposal
Sure to Meet Vigorous Opposition in the Senate.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 2.—The House approached a final vote today on the settlement of the French war debt of $61,847,674.000
with leaders conceding that ratification was virtually assured before nightfall. What the prospects are for the agreement in the Senate, however, is a harder question for them to answer. A hard fight
there is certain.

Convening at 11 a. m., an hour earlier than usual, debate was begun practically where it left off yesterday, proponents of the plan
generally reverting to France's capacity to pay and her aid to America in the revolution, while those in opposition based their arguments on the plea that it was too lenient and was unfair to the American taxpayers.

MASKED ROBBERS HOLD UP TEXAS BANK, $15,000 TAKEN

Five Men Force 11 Officers and Customers Into Vault, Escape
in Auto.

DALLAS, Tex., June 2.—Five masked robbers today locked 11
officers and customers of the Jefferson Bank & Trust Co. of Oak Cliff, a suburb, in the vault,
scooped up between $15,000 and $20,000 in currency and fled in an automobile toward Fort Worth under a hail of bullets.

M. G. Gering, president of the bank, was one of those forced into the vault. One of the robbers was a Negro, said witnesses who saw the five get into a small automobile parked near the bank.

R. O. Barnes, cashier, one of those shut in the vault, said that the bank was the combination turned and freed the imprisoned party within a few seconds. He fired five shots at the fugitives.

The robbers are believed to be part of the same band that held up banks at Cherryvale and Winfield, Kan., late last month, escaping with more than $100,000 in cash and securities.

THREE MEN ENTOMBED BY COPPER MINE CAVE-IN

Rescue Crews Strive to Praise Tons of Debris—One of Trio Talks With Workers.

BUTTE, Mont., June 2.—Three miners, buried by a cave-in late yesterday afternoon, today were still entombed behind tons of debris in the 1900-foot level of the Anaconda copper mine of the West. Rescue crews exerted every effort to reach them. The entombed men are Henry Lettala, 19 years old; Stewart Hutchinson, 27, shift boss, and Joseph Langner, 35.

They were caught in the mine-shaft when a section of the roof caved in. For a time rescue workers could hear Lettala urging them
on. Lettala said he was pinned between heavy timbers, which had said he did not know where the other two entombed miners were.
During the night Lettala's voice died away. Little hope is held that Lettala's companions will be found alive.

MAN ASLEEP ON TRACK STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Alex Moore, 22, Son of Kirkwood
Banker, in Critical Condition
at St. Mary's Hospital.

Falling asleep while sitting on street car tracks at Roselle avenue, in Brentwood, at 1 a. m. yesterday, Alex Moore, 22 years old,
of 418 Van Buren avenue, Kirkwood, was struck by a Kirkwood-Ferguson street car. He is at St.
Mary's Hospital in a critical condition, suffering from a skull fracture and concussion of the brain.

At the point where Moore was struck the track curve sharply and the motorman was unable to see him until too late to avoid the accident. Moore is a son of the late John H. Moore, vice president of the Kirkwood Trust Co.

SIDENER CHARGED WITH AGREEING TO TAKE MONEY TO FREE RUTHERFORD

A. SAMUEL BENDER IS INDICTED WITH CIRCUIT ATTORNEY

True Bill Says Prosecutor and Special Aid Bargained to Drop Murder Case for 'Large Sum.'

PENALTY FOR FELONY IS TERM IN PRISON

John Rutherford, Brother of Slayer, Indicted on Charge of Giving Bribe
to Officials.

The charge that Circuit Attorney Howard Sidener agreed to take "a large sum of money" from John Rutherford on the understanding that Sidener would free Rutherford's brother, William Allen Scott Rutherford, under indictment for second degree murder in the slay-ing of Jack Tucker, a Majestic Hotel bellboy, was contained in one of two indictments against Sidener returned by the grand jury late yesterday.

This indictment accuses Sidener
of compounding a felony on the ground that, in consideration of the large sum of money offered by Rutherford for the commission of felony and murder, "his concealing and compounding Rutherford's crime."

Jointly indicted with Sidener on this count was A. Samuel Bender, the politician who had the dual role
of special prosecutor and damage suit attorney representing Mrs.
Tucker, mother of the slain bell-boy. The indictment alleges that Bender was an officer of the court and that he joined with Sidener in the agreement to take "a large sum of money" from John Rutherford.

A Felony Offense.

Compounding a felony is a penitentiary offense, punishable by imprisonment of from one to five years.

The second indictment against Sidener was for "fraud in office,"
as exclusively forecast in the Post-Dispatch Monday. Under this true bill Sidener is accused of having falsely represented to Circuit Judge Mix that important witnesses in the Rutherford case were missing
and the State was in a helpless condition. By this representation,
the indictment declares, Sidener
"did then and there perpetrate and impose a fraud upon said court."

"Fraud in office" is a misdemeanor punishable by six months in jail or $500 fine, or both. Conviction automatically would remove Sidener from office, take from him
his right to vote and bar him from ever again holding office in the State.

The fraud indictment was certified today by the clerk of Judge Mix to the clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, which has jurisdiction in misdemeanor cases. It will be docketed later, probably in Judge Calvin Miller's division.

John Rutherford Also Indicted.

The third man indicted yesterday was John Rutherford, who is charged with bribery "in the giving of a large sum of money,"
amount and date of bribe unknown
to the jury, to Sidener and Bender.

It is alleged in the indictment against Rutherford that he not only agreed with Bender and Sid-ener to take a bribe for their recommendation letting his brother off with $500 fine, but that he "did
then and there give a large sum of money, as a gratuity and reward" to Bender and to Sidener.

"And the said Rutherford, with intent" on the part of John Rutherford to influence and induce Sidener and Bender to "neglect and omit the performance of their official duty."

Bribery is punishable by a penitentiary sentence of from two to seven years.

The return of these indictments
in court against Sidener, Bender
and John Rutherford was published in the Night Sport Special edition of yesterday's Post-Dispatch.

Why the grand jury in one indictment should have accused Rutherford of giving Sidener and Bender a bribe to free Rutherford is a question.

BONDSMAN ACCUSES GEIST OF COMPLICITY IN WORKING 'RINGER' DEFENDANT ON COURT

Michael Cutter Tells Attorney-General of Official Trickery and Goes Before Grand Jury.

Michael Cutter, bondsman of 2000 Division street, who admitted in an exclusive interview in the Post-Dispatch, May 26, that he had worked a "ringer" on the court in a bond forfeiture case and said that he had done so with the connivance of an attaché of the Circuit Attorney's office, today told Attorney-General Gentry the whole story and named William Geist, chief clerk in Sidener's office, as the man.

The Attorney-General took Cutter before the grand jury this afternoon to tell his story, a retelling tallying in detail with the facts as he set them forth in the Post-Dispatch.

Cutter has asserted that he convicted with Geist and paid him $100
on account for his help in working the "ringer" on the court. He has told how he and Geist fell out because Cutter says Geist tried to "graft" $80 worth of groceries
from him in addition to the payment of $200 agreed upon between them.

Quarrelled Over $80.

Cutter told Geist, he declares,
that he would count the $80 worth of groceries against the $100 still due as part of the $200. Geist, according to Cutter's charges, insisted that he get the full $200 and the groceries besides. They quarrelled and Cutter says he told Geist:
"You won't get a cent more out of me."

Cutter also told the Attorney-General of another bondsman who,
he says, worked a "ringer" on the Court. This bondsman, according to Cutter, is willing to testify before the grand jury. Gentry issued a subpoena for the man this morning, but he was sick in bed. He expressed willingness, Gentry said,
to tell what he knows as soon as he has recovered.

Cutter is under a two-year prison sentence in the "ringer" case, having been found guilty in Judge Frey's court May 11 of having substituted Michael Walsh for Martin Brennan in a concealed weapon case. Cutter had signed Brennan's name for the grand jury. Gentry appeared. Cutter decided to send in a "ringer" and save himself from having to pay the forfeited bond.

He telephoned Geist, he says, told him that he would send in a "ringer" for Martin Brennan, and asked that he be paid $100 on account,
and that their quarrel over groceries
be dropped.

Charges He Was Deceived.

Cutter told Gentry that Geist allured his suspicions by making no
more demands for money

GASOLINE PRICE INQUIRY URGED BEFORE SENATE

Reed of Missouri Joins Trammel in Futile Demand for Consideration of Year-Old Resolution.

PINE OF OKLAHOMA OPPOSED TO ACTION

Blocks Unanimous Consent for Two-Hour Hearing—Floridan to Renew Motion Daily During Session

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 26-28 Wyatt Bldg. WASHINGTON, June 2.—Why does the price of gasoline go up several cents every spring? Senator Trammel (Dem.), of Florida, gave it as his opinion in the Senate that the annual increase is the result of a price-fixing conspiracy on the part of the big oil companies.

He demanded action on his resolution which would instruct the Federal Trade Commission to make an investigation of the oil companies to determine whether the anti-trust law is being violated.

"We have seen this thing happen year after year," he said. "There is no excuse for it, and it is without rhyme or reason. Every spring the price of gasoline automatically goes up from 2 to 6 cents a gallon. Every man who knows anything about it knows that the Standard Oil companies control the price of gasoline in this country. They control it just as effectively as they do the Standard Oil Co. was dissolved by the Supreme Court."

"More effectively," interjected Senator Harris (Dem.), of Georgia. "When there was only one Standard Oil company, and it wanted to lower the price to destroy a competitor, it had to lower it all over the country. Now it is desired to destroy a competitor in Indiana, the Standard of Indiana can lower its prices until the object is accomplished, while the other Standard companies keep the price up. In the matter of wiping out competition, the dissolution has been a convenience to Standard Oil."

Unanimous Consent Opposed. Trammel had asked unanimous consent that consideration of his resolution be allowed to displace the farm relief bill for two hours, which he estimated would be all the time required to debate the resolution and vote on it. Other Senators were objecting.

"There is always some excuse for postponing action on this resolution," Trammel declared heatedly. "Senators who have fooled around here for four months without doing anything for the farmer suddenly decide that the Senate must consider the farm bill without a minute's delay. And some of them are Senators who won't vote for the farm bill."

"I introduced a similar resolution a year ago. There had just been an increase in the price of gasoline, similar to that which has occurred in the last three weeks, and similar to that which invariably occurs every spring. We heard the same plea for delay, and finally adjourned without passing the resolution."

"Some Senators could not have been more servile if they had been on the payroll of the Standard Oil companies. I say it is a strange thing that whenever there is an effort to investigate some special interest in this country, there is always somebody in the Senate ready to block it."

Senators McNary (Rep.) of Oregon and Norbeck (Rep.) of South Dakota replied that the farm bill had been very patient, and that the time had come when legislation for the relief of the farmers was imperative.

To Renew Motion Daily. "Certainly, and one of the forms of relief which they need most is relief from the high price of gasoline, kerosene and petroleum products," Trammel retorted.

"Consideration of the farm bill will take from one to three weeks. I am asking for only two hours," Senator Reed of Missouri interposed in Trammel's behalf.

"The Senator wants consideration of a resolution that ought to pass the Senate in 10 minutes," he stated. "There ought to be no opposition here to an investigation to learn whether people are being misled on the price of gasoline. It could have been considered and voted on in half the time that has been consumed opposing consideration of it."

In order to avoid all possible objection on the ground of the time, Trammel resumed, "I now ask for unanimous consent to vote immediately on the resolution without debate."

Senator Pine (Rep.) of Oklahoma, who has large oil interests, immediately objected, thus ending all hope for an early vote on the resolution.

"I am serving notice on the Senate," Trammel definitely concluded, "that I intend to call up this matter tomorrow and the next day and every day until I get a record vote on it. I want the people to know who is favoring the oil interests here and who is favoring the people."

Another attempt by Senator Trammel to obtain consideration of his resolution was blocked today by Senator Harrell (Rep.), Oklahoma, who refused unanimous consent.

Governor of Virginia Seeks Coolidge's Aid for Investigation. RICHMOND, Va., June 2.—A "fearless and non-political" investigation of the gasoline, oil and kerosene industries by the Federal Trade Commission was asked by Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. In a letter to President Coolidge made public here, he said he regarded the simultaneous price advances as almost certain evidence of prearranged price fixing and urges also investigation of the recent mergers in the industry.

NEBRASKA FARMERS OPTIMISTIC OVER BEET CROP PROSPECTS

Bumper Yield Expected After Government Guarantees an Adequate Water Supply.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SCOTTS BLUFF, Neb.,—Optimism now is prevalent in North Platte Valley as a result of the amicable settlement with the reclamation commission of the delinquent charge difficulty and the assurance of ample water for the beet crop, which portends a bumper yield.

This year's crop which is estimated at a one to two-ton increase over last season's yield of 15 tons an acre, has a minimum price guarantee of $8 a ton for the harvest of 60,000 acres. Thus much anxiety was aroused when the irrigation water was withheld. Secretary Work and his associate, Dr. Ellwood Mead, were hanged in effigy by farmers.

Finally, the Interior Department suggested that the Water Users Association assume the maintenance and operation charges of the project from July, 1925, to January, 1927, after which a joint liability district would be formed. The Government, in turn promised an immediate water supply. This the association has voted to do.

CONFIDENT ON FRENCH DEBT

Ambassador Berenger Tells Americans in Paris Settlement is Just.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, June 2.—France will ratify her debt accord which is such a just settlement of her indebtedness to America, French Ambassador Berenger, who has just returned from the United States, today told the American Chamber of Commerce here.

In an eloquent address in the presence of Ambassador Herriek and about 100 members of the Chamber, he traced the history of the debt negotiations, explaining that France was able to enter into them as a result of the Dawes plan which provides for German reparations payments. Ambassador Berenger stressed the sanctity of international contracts and said that they applied to Germany as well as to France. He hoped that the settlement with the United States would result in increased commerce between the two countries.

ATTACKS TWO-THIRDS RULE

Ex-Secretary Daniels Calls It "Body of Death."

COLUMBIA, O., June 2.—Jeffersonian principles of Government were advocated, and the two-thirds rule for nominating Democratic presidential candidates and the unit rule binding state delegates to one candidate were assailed by former Secretary of the Navy Daniels at a meeting of Democratic leaders here today.

"The hour has struck," said Daniels, "for the Democratic party to rid itself of the body of death, popularly known as the two-thirds rule. It is a misnomer. It should be called the one-third rule. It is a big stick that can be used to enable a handful of delegates to thwart the will of the majority."

58 cents to $2.08 a barrel, he said, and not $10 or $12 a barrel as stated in some stock-selling literature.

The first witness, the Rev. George L. Newkirk of Warrensburg, Mo., told a story typical of those that followed. He subscribed to the Preacher's Magazine, but had never seen its author until they met in Federal Court yesterday.

He had contracted to buy 300 shares at $1 a share and had paid for 100 shares. Dividends were promised, but never received. The way in which the witness said that this was his first venture in oil indicated it also was his last.

The Rev. Basil Zehner of Lincoln, Neb., another Preacher's Magazine reader, paid $560 for Economy oil stock. He lost this money, of course, but he saved the beautiful stock certificates. He proved a valuable witness as he had also saved 142 pieces of sales literature received through the mails from Rutledge.

Chiropractor Out $4000. A chiropractor was sandwiched in between the preachers. Matthew Altem testified that $4000 which he had earned by adjusting spines at 3130 Armitage avenue, Chicago, had been dropped into the holes dug by Rutledge. "Yes, I got a $60 dividend," he said in answer to a question, "but it was a stock dividend, and I needed cash." The chiropractor-witness was not asked whether he subscribed to the Preacher's Magazine.

In his sales literature, Rutledge had declared he was drilling wells in the King pool in Allen County, Kentucky. To prove its contention that Rutledge had misrepresented the facts, the Government called to the witness stand one Adolphus Graves, a shaggy native of Sumner County, Tennessee, which adjoins Allen County.

After shifting his tobacco to the right cheek, Graves testified that a "Mr. Davis" had drilled a dry well for Rutledge on Graves' farm. This well, the witness said, was about four miles from the King pool and there were no pipe lines or other wells closer than four miles.

Other Dry Wells Bored. Another Sumner County native, M. J. O'Brien, testified that a 600-foot well and a 300-foot well had been drilled on his farm for Rutledge. The 300-foot well was dusty, but the deeper well made a light showing of oil.

"How many barrels a day did the well bring in?" the witness was asked. "None," was the reply. "A barrel an old?" "No."

Bert Hughes, native of Warren County, Kentucky, about 30 miles from the King pool, said Rutledge had sunk three wells on his farm, getting a few barrels of oil and water from one well. The witness described his land as "wildcat territory" and was asked:

"What is wildcat territory?" "Where they don't find any oil," he answered.

"And if they do find oil?" "Well, that's an oil field then," he answered.

Rutledge's Male Story. Editor Rutledge laughed heartily when Assistant District Attorney Statler repeated Rutledge's story of the two Negroes and the mule. It seemed that a Negro farmer bought a mule from a Negro stock dealer and the mule when placed in conjunction with a plow promptly ran head foremost into a tree. The farmer wanted his money back, but the stock dealer assured him: "That that mule ain't blind—he jes don't give a damn."

"I have instructed my department managers to employ only men who give a damn," Rutledge had written. "We don't want employees who don't give a damn. It seems to me that some of our stockholders don't give a damn for others. They want dividends on stock not paid for."

second place in front of Apple Sammy, Swift and Sure, Lancage and Lord Barnaby's Review Order.

Wins by Five Lengths. Coronach went into the straight about three lengths in front, with Lancage second, and passed the winning post at a canter with five lengths to spare.

Sir Abe Bailey's Lex, which was one of the favorites (and which Lady Astor gave as a tip to the miners in South Wales to win) came in last but one of the 19 runners, with Apple Sammy trailing.

Lord Astor, who has been runner-up in the Derby five times, only succeeded in getting fourth place with Swift and Sure, who figured largely in the betting.

Coronach comes from a proud family, for it was his half-brother, Captain Cuttle, which in 1922 won the Derby for Lord Woolavington and established the record for the course of two minutes 34.3 seconds.

Coronach covered the distance in two minutes 45.4 seconds today, but undoubtedly could have bettered that time had his jockey seen fit to force him.

The royal party arrived in a fleet of 12 automobiles, the approach of this procession causing the first traffic jam of the day. Their majesties were held up 25 minutes, but took the delay good-naturedly and smiled at the bobbies who eventually cleared the way.

Most of the vehicles on the road were private cars or motor charabancs. Hundreds of double-deck busses also were present, however, to accommodate the race fans, who could not go by railroad, as owing to the coal strike, only a few extra trains were operating.

St. Louisans Among Spectators. Fifteen Americans and their wives did not take the chances of missing the Derby. They chartered an omnibus and left London at daylight, taking large supplies of food and other essentials, for the return journey probably will be slow and arduous.

The party includes Pierre van Rensselaer Key and Lee Shubert of New York; Henry Leonard Hollis, John Drake of Chicago; David R. Calhoun of St. Louis, and Charles M. Levey, general manager of the Western Pacific Lines, San Francisco.

Students Expelled for Cheating

By the Associated Press. WILLIAMSBURG, Va., June 2.—Nine students have been expelled from William and Mary College on charges of cheating on one of the final examinations in English. They were convicted by the student honor council of the college and were directed to leave the school not later than today.

The incident marked the first time in the history of the college that students have been charged with obtaining advance copies of examination papers. The names were withheld.

DOG HEIR TO $10,000 DIES AT FARM HOME

Fund Late Jacob Siler Left for Pet Goes to Two Guardians in 1928.

An old dog died Sunday on the farm of William Mertz on Mason road in St. Louis County. Old dogs have died before and have been buried in back lots and orchards, but Joe No. 4, who looked much like any other fox terrier that had reached the age of 12 years, was no ordinary farm dog.

Joe, in a way, had an estate of more than $10,000. He was a retired dog who had devoted a long life of friendship and devotion to one master and his declining months, as befitting a wealthy old dog, were spent in idleness and ease.

His master, the late Jacob Siler, as has been told in the Post-Dispatch, had left the money in trust in order that Joe's old days might be spent in comfort and ease. He wrote an 11-page "Dog Joe Agreement," which omitted no detail concerning Joe's care and burial. He entrusted Joe's fortune to Otto P. Schmitt, wall paper dealer of 3259 California avenue, naming Schmitt and Mrs. A. J. ultimate heirs.

Joe died in Sleep. Joe's death was not unexpected. He had been failing for several weeks and Sunday morning when Mertz went to the barnyard, he found Joe's body there. He had died apparently while asleep, after 15 months on the farm. He had survived his aged master by 10 months.

Mertz communicated with Schmitt, who got out the "Dog Joe Agreement" and drove to Mertz's farm Monday morning. Several witnesses from the city and neighbors were called in to see that Siler's wishes were carried out to the letter. In the orchard, a grave exactly 5 feet deep, 3 feet long and 18 inches wide was dug, lined with a yardstick supervised by Siler's executor.

A copper box, containing the remains of Joe No. 2, was brought from the barn. Joe No. 3 was the predecessor of Joe No. 4, and Jacob Siler had preserved the body for many years in the old house at 1906 South Seventh street. The box was placed in the grave and the body of Joe No. 4 was placed beside it. Schmitt read the pertinent passages of the "Dog Joe Agreement," the witnesses gave approval and the grave was filled.

Chemist Called In. Jacob Siler had stipulated in the agreement that should Joe die within a year of the date of the agreement a chemical analysis be made to determine if he died naturally. This was done by three months, but Schmitt has arranged for the analysis so that there may be no question.

Jacob Siler had always loved animals. He served through six Civil War battles and lost an arm at Chickasaw. He confessed to friends that he wept when he watched the agony of injured cavalry horses. He lived alone with Joe in the brick house he owned on Seventh street, an eccentric recluse who hoarded relics and kept his money in tomato cans.

For the future, with Joe he walked downtown and consulted Roby Albin, attorney in the Title Guaranty Building. A will was drawn by Albin and Siler advertised for a country home for himself and his dog.

For Home Hoarding. From 1200 answers Siler selected Mertz as the man best fitted to provide for Joe. The will provided that Mertz and Schmitt, a friend of many years, share in the estate three years after Siler's death.

Siler took little thought for his own comfort. He built a frame shack on Mertz's farm and there lived last July at the age of 84 years. He was buried in a veteran's grave at Jefferson Barracks.

The terms of the "Dog Joe Agreement" have not yet been fully complied with. This is a crafty tendency in the Mertz barn which Siler had cut and inscribed some eight years ago. A concrete base must be laid, under specifications provided by Siler, and the stone placed on Joe's grave. Schmitt plans to do this work within the next 10 days.

Siler's estate, consisting of cash, Liberty Bonds and the Seventh street house, are in Schmitt's care as trustee. They will be divided in July, 1928, under the terms of the will.

NUN OF 'MIRACLE' SECRETLY MARRIED

Miss Elinor Patterson Becomes Bride of Boston Real Estate Operator.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 2.—After balancing a stage career against domesticity for almost a year, Miss Elinor Medill Patterson, daughter of Joseph Medill Patterson, newspaper publisher, decided to take both careers for the present and to choose between them next year or whenever it may become necessary.

She has married Russell Sturgis Codman Jr. of Boston and the parents of the young couple died in their last night at the Ritz Carlton Hotel. Now the details are out.

For almost a year Mr. Codman has been urging Miss Patterson to abandon her stage career, to cancel her contract with Morris Gest for another season as the fugitive Nun in "The Miracle" and to keep house for him.

Of course, it would be such housekeeping as befits the daughter of the publisher of the Chicago Tribune, New York Daily News and Liberty Magazine, when she marries the son of one of the first families of Boston, who has established himself as a real estate operator and who also is a member of the Somerset, Exchange and Union Boat Clubs.

Parents Approved of Codman. Miss Patterson hesitated until the theatrical season closed a few weeks ago. Her father and mother approved of young Codman.

They were not enthusiastic over the departure of their daughter for New York in 1924 as soon as she was 18 to study at the Sargent School of Dramatic Art. Last February when "The Miracle" played in Chicago, Codman and his father and mother joined with the Pattersons in an attempt to persuade Elinor Patterson that she had had enough of the stage.

Just at that moment Morris Gest began to talk to his Nun about a 16-year contract and a new play to be written especially for her by Max Reinhardt, author of "The Miracle." So she decided to play the season out as the Nun.

"I have always wanted to be on the stage ever since I was little," she said last night, "though my family never gave me much encouragement."

When the season ended a few weeks ago Miss Patterson ceased being an actress and became a social being who went to spend a few weeks with Codman's parents at their summer home in Manchester, Mass.

Contract Not at Hand

Gest was not around with bright new contracts to offer and there was no stage scenery to remind her of any other career than the one Codman again offered her.

They compromised. "Your contract with Gest is up next year," Codman said in substance. "Suppose you carry on until then and by that time I think you'll find you have had enough of the stage."

He said something about stage fever being a thing that must be allowed to run its course.

While waiting for the stage fever to disappear, Codman said, there was no reason why they should not get married right away. Miss Patterson agreed. So they slipped away from Manchester to Boston on May 25, discovered the legal formalities in Boston would delay them, so they motored to Putnam, Conn., where the Rev. Nathan B. Burton of the Methodist Episcopal Church married them immediately.

They returned to Manchester and kept the matter quiet until Monday, they came to New York and the former Miss Patterson walked into her parents' apartment here to introduce their son-in-law.

By telephone Mr. and Mrs. Codman were summoned from Manchester, Mass., and the dinner last night at the Ritz-Carlton was the result.

The Rev. Mr. Burton said that the couple, whom he did not know, arrived at the parsonage alone shortly before 8 o'clock in the evening. As far as could be learned, only the pastor's wife was a witness to the ceremony.

THREE HURT BY 35-FOOT FALL WHEN SCAFFOLD COLLAPSES

Accident at New Concordia Seminary Attributed to Too Heavy Load of Roofing Slate.

Three men were seriously injured at 8:30 a. m. today when a scaffold upon which they were working at the New Concordia Seminary, under construction at De Mun and San Bonita avenues, collapsed. They fell 35 feet.

Nick Heil, 45 years old, 331 North Eighteenth street, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital suffering from a probable fracture of the spine, bruises and lacerations. Arthur Morden, 25 years old, living with Heil, suffered a fractured right leg and also was taken to St. Mary's, as was Robert MacIntosh, 1501 West Papin street, who suffered fractured ribs and a probable fracture of the skull.

The men were employees of the George A. Hiddle Roofing Co., Arcade Building. A large load of roofing slate upon it is thought to have caused the scaffold to break.

2800 PERISH IN TIDAL WAVE AND TOTAL MAY REACH 4000

Reports From Coast of Burma Disclose Extent of Recent Cyclonic Disaster.

By the Associated Press. RANGOON, Burma, June 2.—The death toll of the recent cyclonic and tidal wave on the coast of Burma has reached a total of 2800, according to a report submitted by the Commissioner of the District of Arakan. It is feared that the total of deaths may approximate 4000 in the affected regions.

Most of the deaths in the town of Maungdaw were caused by a flood when the Naaf River swept over its banks. The scene in the devastated area is a waste of waters for many miles.

Extensive damage has been caused to the telegraph lines connecting Burma with India and it is expected that it will be some time before the roads to Arakan can be opened, because floods are impeding the progress of rescue workers.

Rosamond, Ill. Stores Burned

By the Associated Press. PANAMA, Ill., June 2.—Fire, originating from a soldering iron, wiped out eight frame business buildings of the village of Rosamond, four miles west of Pana, last night. The fire originated in George Scott's hardware store, first to be destroyed, and spread to five storage rooms of Mrs. Mary Zimmerman and the postoffice building owned by J. W. Christner, postmaster. Mail, stamps and money were saved.

When the matter quiet until Monday, they came to New York and the former Miss Patterson walked into her parents' apartment here to introduce their son-in-law.

By telephone Mr. and Mrs. Codman were summoned from Manchester, Mass., and the dinner last night at the Ritz-Carlton was the result.

The Rev. Mr. Burton said that the couple, whom he did not know, arrived at the parsonage alone shortly before 8 o'clock in the evening. As far as could be learned, only the pastor's wife was a witness to the ceremony.

BROOKHART CALLS ON SENATE FOR INQUIRY

Telegraphs He Is Victim of "Frameup" in Connection With Franking Charges.

By the Associated Press. SIOUX CITY, Ia., June 2.—Charging that he was being made the victim of a "frameup" in connection with the franking incident, disclosed at Washington yesterday and that "a wholesale effort was being made to 'Newberryize' Iowa in the June 7 primaries," former Senator Smith W. Brookhart today sent telegrams to Senators James A. Reed of Missouri and David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, denying that he had violated the franking privilege in any way.

The franking incident involved a speech by the Pennsylvania Senator, which had been sent out to Iowa voters, he said, with other Brookhart campaign material, under the Pennsylvania Senator's frank.

Brookhart's telegram to the Pennsylvania Senator follows: "Just read your statement that my campaign committee had violated your franking privilege. The whole transaction is a frame-up and bears the marks of the Daugherty gang. Your envelopes came sealed and my committee sent them without opening. If my literature was inserted in any of them it was by parties designing to frame a case for your statement. Since your statement to the Senate was made without consulting me, in fairness I ask that you present this telegram to the Senate today. Will you also kindly furnish the source of your information?"

The telegram to Senator Reed of Missouri, follows: "Evidence is accumulating of a wholesale effort to Newberryize Iowa in the June 7 primaries. Vast sums of money are appearing from outside sources to organize and corrupt the election machinery. Vast quantities of literature with false stories are being circulated at the last minute. A case was framed to convince Senator Reed of Pennsylvania that his franking privilege had been violated and other similar shadings are planned. I request that your committee act before the primary."

Two Negro Policemen Suspended

Two Negro members of the East St. Louis police force were suspended yesterday on charges of accepting $1 each a week from two saloon keepers for "protection." They are Special Officers John Wright and James Grogan. Two saloon keepers have filed affidavits swearing they made the weekly payments to the policemen. The officers will be tried Tuesday before the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners.

JOHN V. WIEDEMEIER BEGINS PRISON TERM

Swindler, Known Here, Gets
Year in Philadelphia Jail for Robbing Woman.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Instead of playing the perfect lover, Frederick B. Stanley, or John V. Wiedemeier, known to some of his many alleged victims as Baron Beaverbrook, is in the county prison today serving a year's sentence for embezzling $8000 worth of jewelry from the widow of a Philadelphia jeweler. He was sentenced yesterday, after pleading guilty.

Stanley's real name, police said, was Herman Krueger. He was arrested in a fashionable hotel here a week ago after being trailed for weeks. When placed on trial he pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred by Mrs. Frances C. Kemp, but a few hours later changed his plea of guilty. In the larger cities of the country, under a score or more fictitious names, he wooed and won many women, police said. In a number of instances, it is alleged that he swindled the women out of money and jewelry either before or after marrying them.

The indictment under which Stanley was sentenced was returned in July, 1922, after he had disappeared with jewelry from the store of Mrs. Kemp, who said that he had been employed there prior to the theft. He was arrested on a New York warrant alleging that he had defrauded a woman of that city out of jewelry valued at $125,000, but was held under a writ of habeas corpus when identified by Mrs. Kemp.

When his arrest became known here warrants for his detention poured in from other cities. In most cases the charges were similar to that contained in the New York warrant.

Police said Stanley had served sentences in Sing Sing prison, New York, and was wanted by that State for violating his parole.

His escapades became known with his arrest in St. Louis last October after eloping with the wife of a Chicago fur dealer. He jumped his bond in St. Louis, leaving a $25,000 bankroll with bondsmen and police.

2 MISSING AFTER BOAT SINKS Mother and Child of 305 Aboard Unaccounted For.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Two passengers are missing from the 305 persons who were aboard the steamer Washington Irving when it was rammed and sunk yesterday as it left a Hudson River pier for Albany.

Mrs. Lynn Arthur Hoag, New York, and her 3-year-old daughter, could not be found after the accident. Two other children of Mrs. Hoag, who were on the ship, were unable to give any clues as to their missing mother and sister. Officials of the steamship line believed they might be found in a hospital. The vessel today rested in 30 feet of water, with the superstructure showing alongside a Hoboken, N. J., pier. Divers were investigating the cause of sinking and the possibility of raising the vessel.

Women's Summer Frocks

Prove That an Inexpensive Dress May Be Smart and Beautifully Fashioned, Too

$16.75

The unusual thing about these Frocks is their tasteful styling and the very careful manner in which they are finished—the price tag alone establishes them as inexpensive Frocks. It is this nicety of finish, and the wide diversity, that makes the discriminating woman come for one and stay to select several. They are of delightfully cool Summer fabrics—Georgette, radium and flat crepe.

Choose a Frock for Any Occasion

Pictured are two distinctly different types, typical of the selection. One, of sheerest white Georgette with a design of lace and hand hemstitching, for informal wear. The other, one of the very smart dotted Dresses that are shown in such diversity—polka dots, confetti dots, cluster dot and dots as big as a quarter. (Women's Dress Section—Third Floor.)

BOYD-RICHARDSON—OLIVE AND SIXTH

LEWIS TELLS OF FILIBUSTERING ON SUGAR TARIFF

Commissioners Marvin and Burgess Tried to Block Inquiry Harding Ordered, He Says.

FLEXIBLE SECTION WEAK, HE ASSERTS

Opposes Duty on Articles Not Produced in U. S.—Believes Commission Should Be Judicial Body.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Inequalities in the tariff law, due to its failure to exempt articles not commercially produced in the United States, formed the theme of a thoughtful discourse today by David J. Lewis, former member of the United States Tariff Commission, in the course of his testimony before the Senate committee investigating the commission.

Lewis also threw further light on the filibustering tactics of Commissioner Marvin and former Commissioner Burgess in the sugar investigation. Marvin, he said, made no fewer than a dozen motions designed to halt the inquiry by sending the subject back to the advisory board of the commission. These maneuvers by Marvin were made despite the fact that President Harding had approved the investigation and the case had reached an advanced stage.

To have sent it back to the advisory board, the witness said, would have been like sending a case back to a grand jury when a trial jury was ready to pass upon it. He added that various methods were also used by the high tariff stalwarts to exaggerate differences in the cost of production in the United States and competing countries.

Proposes Changes in Law.

Lewis recommended that the Tariff Commission be given a personnel consisting of two judges, two economists of renown and two publicists. He said that the flexible section of the tariff law ought to be retained, but that the commission should make its reports to Congress and not to the President. Proposed changes in rates, under the suggested plan, would go into effect at the end of 30 days if not rejected in the meantime by Congress.

He described the administration of the flexible section by the President as the weakest part of the present system.

"The fundamental need," he said, "is to set up a judicial tribunal that cares not whether rates are reduced or raised, but will be guided solely by the facts."

He said that the Interstate Commerce Commission would have failed like the Tariff Commission if it had been made up of railway lobbyists and shippers' lobbyists. Illustrating the futility of expecting scientific rate-making by Congress, unless aided by some outside impartial agency, the witness planked down on the table a mail order catalogue listing some 30,000 articles of commerce and another catalogue of about 10,000 different kinds of scientific instruments. He estimated that there were about 1,000,000 separate articles of commerce in use in the United States. All the 10,000 scientific articles, the witness continued, were covered by a rate of 40 per cent.

Protects Articles Not Made in U. S.

"That," he said, "shows the kind of 'classification' we have in the tariff bill. In the case of some articles there is no difference in the cost of production here and abroad. The list, moreover, includes many articles that are not made in the United States at all and are not likely to be made. Yet they all pay a duty of 40 per cent."

Several instances given by the witness illustrated the effect of this rate on scientific research in the United States. New York University, he said, wanted on one occasion to buy $10,000 worth of scientific apparatus abroad, but had to refrain because of the tariff. The Harvard astronomical laboratory, for the same reason, had to go without needed equipment, which it could obtain only in Europe.

Lewis said that at a White House conference among the Tariff Commission, President Harding, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Senator Smoot, shortly before the passage of the last tariff act, he suggested that articles not made in the United States should be exempted from the payment of duty.

"Senator Smoot," continued the witness, "said, 'We don't want that.' The President said nothing and so the matter passed on."

Lewis said there were tens of thousands of articles, perhaps a hundred thousand, subjected to a tariff for which there was no justification in the protective theory.

A Biblical Comparison.

"For this penalty upon purchasers when there is nothing to protect," he continued, "we must go to the Scriptures for precedent. It reminds one of the ordinance passed by Herod, out of jealousy of the Christ child, when he declared that all children in Judea

under the age of 2 should be killed. "I cannot understand how any American statesman can penalize all those articles of commerce on the remote chance that some competing article might come in." Lewis suggested that the commission be empowered not only to make its reports to Congress rather than the President, but to fix a sliding tariff scale to meet changing conditions and to differentiate in its recommendations between efficiently and inefficiently managed industries. He also proposed that Congress fix a maximum rate beyond which no increase could go.

From Berries or Cherries to Jam or Jelly In Fifteen Minutes

Do you know the new short-boil Certo method of making jams and jellies, which makes success certain? No longer need you have any fears as to the result, for the "set" is perfect every time. And the drudgery is gone, too. For instead of tedious lengthy cooking, one or two minutes' boiling is enough when Certo is used.

This short cooking saves the bright natural color and the fresh flavor of the fruit. Besides it avoids the great waste of boiling away the juices so that the actual cost of your jams and jellies made the Certo way is about two cents a glass less than by the tiresome old-fashioned method.

Greater ease, better jelly, lower cost—this is a combination which naturally appeals to women everywhere. A book of simple recipes for all sorts of delicious jams, jellies and marmalades, comes with each bottle of Certo.

Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Peetie Corporation, 4632 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.

Lewis said that the acceptance of the income tax theory in the United States had made a tariff for revenue undesirable.

"A tariff for revenue," he said, "is wrong in principle, because it taxes people on their needs. The income tax taxes them on their ability. The tariff tax is pyramided, so that a dollar paid to the Government comes near to being a $2 tax when paid by the consumer. It has, moreover, the vice of all indirect taxes—that of tending to hide the fact of Government expenditures."

Lewis said he was confident that a tariff commission could be got together that would judiciously carry out the tariff theories of Congress, whatever might be the views of the individual members regarding those theories.

At the conclusion of his statement the committee adjourned until Monday, when Commissioner H. H. Glasco of sugar case notoriety will take the stand again.

City Marshal of Colp, Ill., and Deputy Sheriff, "Shot It Out."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MARION, Ill., June 2.—A Coroner's jury, after hearing the testimony of persons who witnessed the fight at Colp last Saturday night of Deputy Sheriff Freeman of Williamson County, Marshal Charles Lawson of Colp and Jeff Stone, Mayor of Colp, in which Lawson was killed and Freeman mortally wounded, returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The jury found that Lawson was killed by Freeman after Lawson and Stone had shot Freeman. Freeman died Sunday.

According to Mayor Stone, he accompanied Marshal Lawson to a saloon Saturday night to serve a warrant on Freeman charging him with peace disturbance. Lawson had succeeded Freeman as Marshal only a month ago and there was known to be bad feeling between the two.

As they approached Freeman, Stone testified, Lawson announced he had a warrant for his arrest. Freeman drew a revolver, Stone said, and in the fight which followed Lawson was killed and Freeman fatally wounded. Other witnesses testified Freeman had fired the shot which killed Lawson. And that both Lawson and Stone had fired the shots which resulted in Freeman's death.

WOMAN'S DREAM OF WEDDED BLISS RUDELY SHATTERED

Matrimonial "Ad" Lured Her West, but Man Who Met Her Was Not What He Had Claimed to Be.

DANVILLE, Ill.—Visions of a happy home and future for herself and baby boy aroused by reading in a matrimonial paper the advertisement of Itay Taylor, 43 years old, of Danville, who described himself as wealthy, lonesome, refined and pining for a congenial companion, and heightened by letters in which he promised her a honeymoon tour, were dispelled when Mrs. Rose Bernier of Waterbury, Conn., and her baby son alighted from a train here and were met by a shabbily dressed man who took her to a rooming house, confessed that he was not financially prepared to marry her and proposed that they rent a house and live together until fortune smiled upon him. This arrangement was unsatisfactory, and the woman filed a complaint with police, who arrested Taylor and will prosecute him under the Mann act.

Campaign Waged by Police With Test Boards in Various Parts of the City.

The two police courts handled 165 such cases yesterday and 142 were scheduled for today. Both judges are adhering to a policy of assessing costs, $2, on each plea of guilty. The arrests were made in various parts of the city where policemen were stationed with test boards to check headlights which appeared to be improperly focused.

VERDICT OF HOMICIDE IN AUTO FATALITY

Coroner's Inquest Into Death
of Mrs. Mary Hermer Unable to Name Driver.

An open verdict of homicide was returned today in the killing of Mrs. Mary Hermer, 51 years old, a widow, by a speeding automobile in front of her home at 2520 North Garrison avenue, Friday morning. The inquest had been continued from Saturday to give detectives a chance to try to trace a door handle which was torn from the automobile when it struck Mrs. Hermer and sped away. No trace of the owner of the car was found, however.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned in the death yesterday of James Halloran, 60, of 2755 North Garrison avenue, who was run down by an automobile at Grand boulevard and Cottage avenue Monday.

Four witnesses testified Halloran stepped from behind a street car directly into the path of the automobile driven by Earl Long, 21, a chauffeur, of 6003 Michigan avenue.

FARMER'S STORY OF KILLING,
TWO MEN WITH FISTS DOUBTED Bloody Ax Found Near Scene of Fatal Fight in Dispute Over a Cow.

RUTLAND, Vt., June 2.—The story of a 61-year-old farmer that he killed two powerfully built woodchoppers with blows from his fist is under investigation today, with authorities inclined to discredit his tale, following the finding of a bloody ax.

The scene of the attack was the lonely farm of Randall Tubbs, near Ira, 15 miles from here. Tubbs is held on a charge of murder, and his son, Franklin, also is under arrest as the result of accusations gaped out by one of the victims just before he died.

Tubbs told the police he struck down the men when they assaulted him following a dispute over a cow which the farmer had sold to the woodchoppers, but discovery of the blood-stained ax cast doubt on his story. An autopsy on the bodies of the victims, Barnard and Sam Carraro, brothers, indicated that one of them was struck on the head with a sharp weapon.

While the woodchoppers were men of more than ordinary size and strength, Tubbs also is of exceptionally powerful physique and active, despite his years. Tubbs said he injured his arm in the fight, and that his son drove him to this city to be treated. They brought a physician back to the farm with them to attend to the injuries of the woodchoppers. The doctor found the brothers in Tubbs' barn. Barnard was dead, and Sam was taken to the Rutland Hospital suffering from a fractured skull, a broken jaw and several broken ribs. He died at the hospital yesterday.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 2.—Harry Hobbs Irwin, 10 years old, who walked up to a policeman here and declared he was sought as the slayer of William J. Clarke, Hillsdale, N. Within was found a scrap of paper, slightly damaged by moisture, but bearing the still legible name and address of John Scott Jr. of New York. The bottle was thrown from the steamship Manchuria, off the coast of Florida, July 12, 1925, and took 10 months to reach Ireland, 4000 miles away.

CAPTAIN FACES LIQUOR TRIAL

OMAHA, Neb., June 2.—Capt. W. R. Allen, accused with Capt. J. W. Arnold, at Fort Crook, of introducing liquor into a military reservation, is the first army officer to face a court-martial on such a charge. An order for the trial was issued yesterday.

The accused officers were arrested May 15 by a Federal prohibition enforcement agent, who said he took three pints of liquor from their automobile. Both are in the Seventeenth Infantry.

POLICE BEFORE CRIME INQUIRY

CHICAGO, June 2.—Fifteen police captains testifying before the special grand jury investigating crime in Chicago and Cook County were unanimous in declaring that liquor law violations and gangster silence were responsible for much of the present-day crime here.

Prohibition, they told the grand jury, brought huge profits to gangsters and hoodlums who turned bootleggers while the gangsters' silence has balked the police in solving dry-law violations as well as many gang murders of the last two years. Other crimes, such as robberies, burglaries and hold-ups, have decreased, the police officials said, but they have been unable to cope with the illicit liquor dealers and with gangland.

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1924 by F. O. Beauty Features

Never Touch

Any but a true complexion
soap to your face

Good complexions too priceless
for experiment

THE only kind of soap to use on your face is a soap made basicaly for that purpose. Risking your complexion to an unproved soap is a folly.

Before Palmolive came, women were told "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh.

Then came this famous beauty creation. A soap made by experts in beauty solely for ONE purpose: to safeguard the complexion. A soap made of rare cosmetic oils, to be used freely, lavishly on the skin. A soap, thus, that changed the beauty habits of the world.

Leading skin authorities urge it. Most of the pretty skins you see today are largely due to it. Launder, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care.

Start the day in the following way for one week... note the improvement in your skin.

The rule for gentle skin and pore cleansing

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain a cake today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois, 3171

WHEAT CROP BELOW NORMAL IS PREDICTED

Total Yield in Missouri, Illinois and Iowa Estimated at 52,500,000 Bushels.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Less than normal wheat yields in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri and a crop falling below the 10-year average in Nebraska are predicted in the Santa Fe railway report on agricultural conditions as of June 1.

Winter killing has caused heavy abandonment of acreage in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, said the report, and most of the grain that survived was early sown, which is doing fairly well. The total yield is estimated at 52,500,000 bushels. Many of the abandoned fields have been sown to oats, with good prospects.

Nebraska's probable wheat crop is estimated at 40,000,000 bushels, compared with the ten-year average of 50,000,000.

A backward spring in Illinois, Iowa and Northern Missouri made much corn re-planting necessary, the railway report said, but the stand is now fairly good and seasonable weather should produce an average crop, the acreage being normal.

For the 11 Mississippi Valley and Southwestern States which the Santa Fe operates, a total wheat yield estimate of 340,000,000 bushels is made in the current report. The 1925 crop in the same states was 222,798,000 bushels.

TOURISTS ATTRACTED BY ALASKAN RAILWAY TRIP

Summer Journey to Fairbanks From Seward Lies Through Mountains.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, June 2.—The Alaskan railroad was constructed to develop the assets of Uncle Sam's Northern possession but it also has brought satisfaction to the road's officials from another source—tourists.

The route of the railway from Seward, on the Pacific Ocean, to Fairbanks in the interior, passes through one of the most beautiful sections of the North. Each year has brought an increasing number of visitors, who start the trip with a six-day ocean voyage from Seattle on vessels which maintain weekly sailings throughout the year.

The entire trip with the exception of 40 hours on the Gulf of Alaska is made through what is known as the Inside Passage, a land-locked route described as being as smooth as a mill pond.

At Seward the trains connect with the boats, and thence they go northward along Turnagain Arm, a branch of Cook Inlet, and through mountains which were once declared impassable. North of Anchorage the Matanuska, Susitna and Tanana valley farming districts are traversed. Halfway between Anchorage and Fairbanks is Mount McKinley National Park.

The trip from Seattle to Fairbanks and return takes three weeks. From May 15 to Sept. 15 there is no snow, but abundant sunshine.

JUNKED AUTOS USED FOR STRENGTHENING RIVER BANK

Frames of Old Cars Settle So Firmly Into Mud Currents Can't Wash Them Away.

By the Associated Press.

PIERRE, S. D., June 2.—Junked motor cars are being put to a new use here—that of helping to "tame" the Missouri River.

The "Big Muddy" has a coy habit of tearing away large chunks of South Dakota farm land abutting the stream, during the spring vlood, and carrying them downstream, sometimes in 20-acre chunks. The piling of logs, brush and debris along the bank has not availed to stop the channel's depredations.

But it has been discovered that the frames of junked cars, piled one upon another wherever the channel is cutting away the bank, settle so firmly and are so impervious to the channel stream that they stop the cutting away of the bank. Several score of abandoned automobiles are serving more effectively than expensive piling.

Bermuda Won't Bar Buses.
HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 2.—A petition of promoters of the proposed Bermuda Light Railway for the barring of motor transportation on the island for 40 years has been defeated in the House of Assembly, 17 to 16. The House recently granted approval of the railway.

Catholic Ceremony Is Granted
 Murray Phillips, Whose Wife Is a Protestant.

Murray Phillips, landowner of New Madrid, Mo., and his wife, formerly Miss Virginia Matthews of Sikeston, were married here last night at St. Alphonsus (Rock) Church for the second time in two weeks.

Phillips, a graduate of Georgetown University, and Miss Matthews, who is the daughter of C. D. Matthews, one of the largest landowners in the State, were married May 3 at Sikeston by a Methodist minister.

Mrs. Phillips is a Methodist and her husband a Catholic. The Methodist ceremony was performed after a Catholic pastor at Sikeston had declined to sanction a non-Catholic ceremony.

Returning from their honeymoon trip, they visited T. M. Pierce of 21 Vandeventer place, vice president and general counsel of the Terminal Railroad Association and cousin of Phillips.

Pierce had already taken up with Catholic authorities the question of a Catholic ceremony and last night Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were married in a second ceremony by the Rev. T. M. Palmer, pastor of the Rock Church. They returned to New Madrid today.

MISSOURI TO COLLECT INCOME TAX ON $4,501,546,000
 Assessment This Year Sets Record—This Tax Now State's Chief Source of Revenue.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 2.—Income above exemptions subject to the State income tax in Missouri is $4,501,546,000 for 1925, with six smaller counties and some fiscal year corporations still to report. This is the largest in the State since the income tax law went into effect in 1919 and is an increase of $1,457,544,000 over the total on which the tax was levied in 1925. Taxes due on the 1925 assessment total $4,501,546, an increase of $1,457,544 over last year. The assessment in St. Louis alone totals $2,558,515,000, or 56.8 per cent of the total reported for the entire State. This will be increased to more than 60 per cent of the total assessments when the fiscal year corporations in St. Louis make their reports.

The sharp increase in the assessments over last year follows an active campaign by State Auditor Thompson for more rigid enforcement of the State income tax law under an amendment passed by the last Legislature.

The income tax now is the heaviest single source of revenue for the State and it is estimated that this year it will be about double the amount collected from the direct tax on real and personal property.

GIVES PORTRAIT TO PAPERS, THEN SHOTS SELF TO DEATH
 Real Estate Dealer Writes Obituaries and Leaves Note for the Coroner in Denver.

DENVER, Colo., June 2.—After visiting Denver newspapers which he presented with a copy of his autobiography and picture and promising them that he would give them a good story in a few days, Charles M. Welch, 35 years old, former Syracuse (N. Y.) newspaper man, organizer of a printing company and real estate dealer, shot himself to death at his home here.

Pinned to his coat lapel was a typewritten note addressed to the coroner which gave the cause of the suicide as inability to compete with modern industrial methods.

She used to be avoided after a few dances

It was so embarrassing that she almost gave up dancing. She tried local applications under the arms but that only corrected part of the trouble. She bathed often but unpleasant body odor still persisted.

Millions of particular women have found a way to prevent this distressing condition. The very same antiseptic lather which has made Lifebuoy famous as a health soap prevents body odor by removing the cause. It penetrates the pores, making them antiseptically clean, leaving not a trace of fatty waste and acids of perspiration which, if allowed to accumulate, cause body odor. After a Lifebuoy bath, you possess all day that supreme attraction—

the charm of delightful freshness and immaculacy.

Not a substitute for cleanness, but cleanness itself. The clean, antiseptic smell rinses away completely; never clings. Lifebuoy is orange red—the color of its pure palm fruit oil.

FIREMEN TRY TO BAR POLICE USE OF SIREN

Find Favor With Aldermen's Committee but Face Fight in Board.

The Fire Department and the Police Department are wrangling over the use of the warning siren on their automobiles. Before the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen today, Director of Public Safety Brod, who heads the Fire Department, defended his proposed ordinance prohibiting the use of the siren by all but Fire Department automobiles.

Opposed to him were Chief of Police Gerk, a number of bankers from the outlying districts, and several Aldermen. Chief Gerk feels that the police, being equally interested in public safety, should also have the privilege of whistling a siren to clear the way. Since sirens have been in use, he said, only two or three minor accidents have occurred to the motorcycle policemen as compared with the large number previously. The emergency cars kept at headquarters for "flashes" also use the siren.

Director Brod said that the police could stick to their bells, but the siren was not for them. "If they use sirens, the sound will soon become so common that motorists will no longer take to the curb," he stated.

Aldermen Eilers and Neu then remarked that the police could be relied upon to exercise as much discretion in its use as the firemen. Alderman Wimer referred slyly to the discretion of the police, calling attention to the shooting of an innocent bystander by a traffic policeman several weeks ago. Alderman Eilers then delivered a eulogy to the Police Department. Alderman Niederhucke wound up the session by saying that all burglar and offenders would be warned away by the waiting of the siren if the police had the use of it.

It was then decided not to amend the ordinance, but Aldermen Eilers and Neu signified their intention of fighting it on the floor when it comes before the board for approval Friday.

MRS. MARGARET REEDY HELD ON FEDERAL LIQUOR CHARGE
Widow of Former Editor of "Mirror" Accused of Sales at Roadhouse.

Mrs. Margaret Reedy, widow of William Marion Reedy, who was editor of "Reedy's Mirror," was held under $1000 bond today under three charges of sale and one charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, at a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Atkins.

Testimony against her was given by C. E. Stacey, Federal prohibition agent, who testified that he made four visits to Peek Inn, a roadhouse at Manchester and Berry roads, St. Louis County, on each occasion purchasing highballs or straight whisky from Mrs. Reedy. Mrs. Reedy made no statement. She previously declared she had sold the roadhouse to her sister, Mrs. Claire Bordenave, now in Europe, and that the sister had leased the business to a man unknown to Mrs. Reedy, who permitted her to make her home in the residence part of the building. She was fined $500 on a liquor charge in 1922, and the roadhouse was padlocked in 1923.

BUSINESS MEN DEFER ACTION ON BRIDGE EXCHANGE

Chamber of Commerce Committee Discusses Bill to Trade Uses of Eads and Free Spans.

The General Terminals Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, meeting yesterday in the Mayor's office, deferred until next Monday approval or disapproval of the ordinance proposing exchange of the bridges between the city and the railroads as the cornerstone of a plan for unification of all railroad terminals to promote greater speed and economy of freight movement in and out of the St. Louis district.

The committee apparently shared the general public ignorance of the proposal, which its sub-committee prepared in a series of secret meetings extending over nearly four years and upon which it has yet to issue an explanatory statement.

About 50 members of the General Committee and representatives of interested organizations, attended the meeting. They included Mayor Stephens of East St. Louis, Mayor Miller of St. Louis, four delegates of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, former Mayor Kiel, members of the Board of Public Service, representatives of the Merchants' Exchange and Harry Scullin, chairman of the general committee and of the sub-committee which drafted the ordinance in conference with the railroads.

William Cotter, president of the Manufacturers' Railroad, who has assailed the proposal as contributing to the monopoly of the Terminal Railway, and Henry Miller, president of the Terminal, were present.

Ordinance Read in Silence.
Scullin caused the ordinance to be read, section by section, inviting comment that was "merely idle criticism." The reading proceeded in silence. It became so painful that the last two pages, relating in ambiguous legal phrases the gradual extension of Terminal franchises, were omitted. The reading ended in silence, followed by a pause.

"What is your pleasure?" Scullin asked. W. Palmer Clarkson, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, moved approval of the ordinance. Scullin rather dubiously put the question.

"All in favor say 'aye,'" Absolute silence.

"All opposed say 'no,'" Three members gave a feeble "no."

Scullin chose to ignore the vote, but it served to stir up a zephyr of discussion.

Fred B. Chamberlain represented the Chamber of Commerce related that the purpose upon which the ordinance committee embarked in 1920 was a comprehensive reorganization of terminals rather than a simple proposal for exchange of bridges.

Sam Plant, last year's president of the Merchants' Exchange, declared that an exchange of uses of the bridges would save $9,000,000 annually in freight movement and would produce a saving of $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 yearly to railroads. He thought some way should be found to let shippers share that saving.

These discussions, however, a letter was read from L. Lionberger Davis urging that action be deferred until public understanding of the ordinance became more general.

Accordingly, W. Frank Carter moved postponement and was taken. Carter thought that in a week members of the committee could correct their apparent lack of information. The vote upon postponement was scattering and weak. A majority refrained from committing themselves even to that action—way of mistakes born of their ignorance of the matter.

Queeny Replies to Cotter.
John F. Queeny, president of the Monsanto Chemical Co., today issued a statement, answering item by item the objections launched against the ordinance by William Cotter, president of the Manufacturers' Railroad.

Cotter's chief fear was that his road, a half line competitor of the Terminal, would be shut off from the bridge, except under terms dictated by the Terminal's present charges for hauling freight over the river. He declared that the ordinance was designed to prevent the construction of the southern approach to the bridge, authorized in the bond issue, and substituted a terminal approach which would prevent freight movement on any other than Terminal lines.

Queeny is a South St. Louis shipper whose business is served by the Manufacturers' railroad. He declared in his statement that the ordinance permits all roads, other than the Terminal, to use the municipal bridge upon terms of "exact equality" with the Terminal. The ordinance provides, he declared, that if the term "exact equality" ever comes into dispute the Interstate Commerce Commission shall referee the dispute to protect the roads, not members of the Terminal.

He brushes aside most of Cotter's other objections and declares the ordinance is necessary to put the "useless railroad deck" of the municipal bridge to work.

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.
BETTER THAN SODA
For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaves the stomach sweet and free from gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than any other.

MERITS OF U. S. BANK TAX SUIT NOT DECIDED

Federal Supreme Court Ruled
Only That Appellate Court Has Jurisdiction.

A news dispatch from Washington, printed in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, gave the impression that the United States Supreme Court had decided, adversely to the city and State, the suit involving the right to assess city and State taxes upon national bank stock.

Lawyers in the case said today that this impression was erroneous and that the Supreme Court did not pass upon the merits of the case, but merely determined that it would not accept jurisdiction. By that decision, jurisdiction is left with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, where the case is now pending, and in which it has been set for argument, at St. Paul, the week of June 14.

Amount Involved in Case.
The case involves about $500,000 a year in city taxes, and more than $1,500,000 a year in State taxes. O. J. Mudd of the law firm of Foristel, Mudd, Hezel & Habenicht, representing the City Collector in the litigation, said today: "In its decision yesterday, the United States Supreme Court expressed no opinion on the merits of the case. The merits of the case were not before the Supreme Court. The Court was asked only to take jurisdiction, which it refused to do. This decision removes a doubt as to the question of jurisdiction, which both sides wished to have removed so that the case might proceed."

Procedure Question Settled.
Because of the ending of the Federal judicial code, last year, there was a doubt where the appeal should lie from Judge Paris' decision, which was against the city and state. Both sides thought the appeal should be to the Court of Appeals, and it was taken there. But to remove doubt, and get procedural questions out of the way, we applied to the Supreme Court for leave to seek a writ of mandamus, to compel Judge Paris to send the appeal to the Supreme Court, instead of the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court, by denying our application, points to the Court of Appeals as having jurisdiction."

Former Judge R. E. Cave, representing the banks in the case, said that Attorney Mudd's interpretation of the Supreme Court's action was correct, and that the main question at issue has not been decided. Former Judge J. T. Blair was associated with Mudd in handling the case.

LEPER CURING FLORA IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 2.—Numerous general of leper-curing flora exist in Brazil, including one species which is thought to be more efficacious than the famous chaumoores tree of Hawaii, announced the National Agricultural Society. The Brazilian tree which is thought to contain a superior grade of the magic ethyl ester is popularly known in Portuguese as "sapucaia." In various parts of Brazil the seed is called "leper fruit" and "leper bread," indicating that the natives believe that it cures the disease. The tree grows wild in several states.

St. Louisans are now able to get into telephonic communication with Chicago within five minutes due to the installation of a special group of direct St. Louis-Chicago telephone circuits. It was announced today by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. If the St. Louisan making the call knows the local number of the person he is calling in Chicago he may place his call with the local operator instead of calling the long distance operator. If he does not know the number he should call in the usual manner.

Directs the Association
at Peking and Recalls Britain's Warfare on Drug.By ALBIN E. JOHNSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.GENEVA, June 2.—Making the most of the League of Nations meeting at Peking, the Chinese delegation, headed by Mr. Chu Chao Hsin, former Chinese embassy minister to London and now
minister to the League of Nations, declared today that China would tear up her unequal treaties regardless of the powers.The outbreak came before the League of Nations Opium Commission yesterday after Sir Malcolm Devis, British representative,
had intimated that Chinese officials
throughout the world had agreed to the importation of opium into China of 100 kilograms of morphia.
He is the same official who repeatedly has been rebuffed by Chinese officials at the League of Nations conference, caused the British government to dispatch Viscount Cecil to straighten out the misunderstandings.Recalls Opium War.
Resenting "an insult" to the Chinese people and government, Chu declared the opium war in which the British forced the Chinese to become slaves to the Indians. He said that for years Britain had authorized importation of raw opium to make morphia, which was sold exclusively to China and that the practice still continued.He characterized Sir Malcolm's attack upon the Chinese as an insult to the Chinese people and Chinese officials as an insult which could be answered only with an insult.Voicing his defiance of England,
Chu said:
"You can reply to me by an appeal to diplomacy or you can reply by appeal to arms. China will welcome your attack. You have attacked my country, and I am not afraid to attack you. For 4000 years China has taken care of herself and she is again able to do so. In the opium war she was forced to bow to England, but she is strong enough now to stand firmly by her principles. I hereby publicly assume the responsibility for declaring that China
will soon tear up the unequal treaties forced upon her."Today for the first time Chinese representatives dare to make statements publicly against British interference.Chu charged that the international opium association at Peking
was directed by an Englishman.
Concluding with a reference to a report, he said:Anti-British Feeling.
"You can find a single man
in China in whose breast there does not beat anti-British feeling.
I am not a Chinese. I can officially inform the committee that the time when China will tolerate foreign interference in her internal affairs is nearing its end."After the meeting Chu said that he was officially authorized to make these statements.
Chinese are in the midst of domestic turmoil, they are united in their foreign policy, he said.As far as war materials are concerned, he said that they are being turned out in Peking, superior in quality to anything seen along the western front during the war.The effectiveness of the anti-foreign boycott, he said, has merely begun. He declared Hongkong is only a shell of a city now with a population of but 200,000, against 1,000,000 a year ago. He added that China has 1,200,000 trained soldiers.WILBUR FOR CONGRESSIONAL

ON FACTS AND ADVISE JURY, SAYS HADLEY
IN REPORT ON CRIMINAL JUSTICE REFORMSAuthority Sanctioned by Common Law Tradition
and U. S. Supreme Court
—Missouri Jurists Reduced to State of Mere Moderators at Trials.CHIEF among the changes in criminal procedure recommended in a report for the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice by Chancellor Hadley of Washington University and Jesse
W. Barrett, former Attorney-General of Missouri, is recommendation that State trial judges be permitted to comment before juries on evidence and on the character of witnesses.Congressman Dyer has a bill pending in Congress to take this power from Federal judges, but Hadley defends the practice in the interests of justice. Notable among other recommendations is one permitting state judges to fix punishment, on the finding of guilt by a jury, and another requiring prosecutors in Missouri to file a written explanation when nolle prosequing a case.The report was presented at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon
here today in which the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice and the St. Louis Bar Association joined.Made Public Without Review.
Hadley has served as Governor
and Attorney-General of Missouri,
and because of his prominence the report, which is copyrighted, was made public without the usual review by the association. Hadley has been active recently in the National Crime Commission and with criminal justice committees of the American Bar Association and the American Law Institute.Hadley prepared the portion of the report offering the greatest innovations, while Barrett made the recommendations for revision of existing laws.In the conduct of the trial, Hadley wrote for one suggested new state, including the examination of witnesses. The judge shall have such power as at common law. He shall instruct the jury as to the law applicable to the case
and in said instructions may make such comments on the evidence and the testimony as he deems proper.
In his opinion, the failure of the court to instruct on any point
of law shall not be a ground
for setting aside a verdict of the jury unless the instruction is requested by the defendant.Judge Now a Mere Moderator.
"The most important change,"
said Hadley, "that we suggest in our criminal procedure is that to the trial judge be given the powers that he had at common law. Under our present system he is made a mere moderator at the trial with power to preserve order in the courtroom, to rule in a formal way upon objections to testimony
and to instruct the jury in writing
as to the law."At common law the judge was the directing and controlling influence at the trial. He still occupies this position in England and Canada and in our Federal courts.
He has the right to examine a witness, if he thinks such examination is necessary, to elicit the truth.
He has the right to advise the jury
upon the facts, to express an opinion thereon and as to the credibility of witnesses, and to advise them, as he has under our system,
as to the law."Thus it is apparent that under our present system the jury receives their advice as to the facts
only from the arguments of opposition. The result of this is that the jury is often misled by the lawyer often dominates the jury, perhaps to the extent of bringing about an actual miscarriage of justice."Glorification of Success.
The absence of disinterested,
expert and authoritative advice to the jury as to the facts thus tends to make the trial a test of skill
and ability between opposing counsel rather than a judicial investigation to ascertain the truth. It also results in a glorification of success in the legal profession, without a very careful consideration as to how success is secured.The result, in short, is in the trial of the lawyers by the jury, instead of the jury by the judge. If expert authority had the place in our system of procedure that it should have in any judicial system, then
the right to advise as to the facts
should be given to the trial judge.
The fact should be emphasized that to give to the trial judge
in our State courts such authority
would restore the system of jury trials as it was established and developed by our English ancestors and as it continued in this country for a longer number of years than has the perversion of the original system which now obtains in some 40 States.We emphasize this point for the further reason that there is now pending in the Congress a bill toDigest of Hadley's Proposals To Reform Judicial ProcedureOUTSTANDING among reforms of judicial procedure recommended by Chancellor Hadley of Washington University in his report today for the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice are:Grant of power to State Judges to comment on evidence and the character of witnesses, for the benefit of juries.Fixing of punishment by the judge upon a verdict of "guilty" by a jury, after the judge has been advised as to the defendant's mental condition and any previous criminal record.Return of felony verdicts
by 12 out of 12 jurors, except in life or death cases, and of misdemeanor verdicts by five out of six jurors.Requirement of a written explanation when a prosecutor enters a nolle prosequi,
with authority for the judge to deny or investigate the dismissal or to appoint a special prosecutor to carry on the case.Other recommendations by Hadley were:Insanity Cases.—Judicial investigation of insanity where it is set up as a defense; appointment of official mental examiners to testify where insanity is claimed at time of a crime, followed by recovery;
jury inquiry where insanity is claimed after conviction; service of original sentence where recovery is made after finding of insanity.Appeal Reforms.—Appeals for the State from trial rulings, to protect rights of society; typewritten instead of printed transcripts and briefs,
to reduce cost; use of testimony or affidavits before appellate tribunal where trial
procedure is contested; authority for appellate tribunal to reduce excessive punishment; right to appeal only on ground of errors in trial procedure; miscarriage of justice;
review of every capital case
before the State Supreme Court;
payment for appeals of poor persons
by the counties.Use of "plain and concise terms" stating the offense charged, in indictments, instead of the antiquated forms
now used, typical of England in 1607.Provision for an opportunity for every person charged with a felony to make a statement or answer any question regarding the charges before a magistrate, within 24 hours after arrest, tending to eliminate the "third degree" and relieve the innocent of standing trial.Provision for taking of depositions by the State as take away from the Judges of the Federal Courts the right to advise the jury in reference to trial
evidence and the credibility of witnesses.Traditional Right to Advise.
"In support of this measure certain partisans but uninformed by history have contended that this bill would restore the 'time-trial and time-honored' usage of trial by jury which has been broken down
through the usurpation of power
incident to the Federal practice.
This statement is made notwithstanding the fact that trial by jury
at common law always included
the advice and the assistance of the court in passing upon the facts."Hadley referred to a decision by the Supreme Court of the United States holding that trial by jury
at the common law and in the meaning of the Federal Constitution is not merely a trial by 12
men, but by 12 men "in the presence and under the superintendence of a judge empowered to instruct them on the facts, and (except on acquittal of a criminal charge) to set aside their verdict
if in his opinion it is against the law or the evidence." There are unequivocal statements of this proposition in the books, the Court said.Quoting a noted commentator to the same effect, Hadley went on:
"These two statements conclusively establish that our present system is the deviation from the 'time-trial and time-honored' trial
by jury. The reasons for the departure from this original system are difficult to define. The influence of the State courts, the influence of the State Legislatures
and the fear of official oppression
have been the dominant ones."Too Much Stress on Lawyers.
"With the presiding judge as a mere moderator, the ability of the lawyer to win his cases by methods not necessarily dishonorable or unfair, but by skill in the trial,
industry and personal influence is naturally greater than it would be if the judge had the authority as an expert but disinterested person official to advise the jury as tothe probative value of testimony.
"The restoration of this right to the trial court has been opposed upon the argument that the possession of such a power on the part of the Federal judges has at times been abused. There is no question but this is true, but any power given and abused can be abused. The power to pardon and parole convicted defendants has been abused by executives far more often than has the power of the Federal courts to instruct juries upon the facts, but with this difference, that the power to grant pardons and paroles has been frequently abused to defeat justice, while the power possessed by the judges to instruct the jury upon the facts, even when unfairly exercised, has usually resulted simply in the conviction of guilty men."And yet no one advocates that the power of pardons and paroles
should be taken away from our Governors because occasionally
some Governor has abused the power.Judges in Favor of Change.
"It is further submitted that the danger of such an abuse of authority by a Federal Judge enjoying a life tenure of office, subject only to the danger of impeachment, is far more likely to occur
than by the judge of one of our State courts whose term of office rarely exceeds a period of six to 10 years. It is also interesting to note, so far as our own State is concerned, that a majority of the circuit judges who answered the inquiry as to their opinion upon
this point declared in favor of giving the trial judges the right to advise upon the facts as upon the law."In connection with his recommendation for fixing of punishment
by the trial judge, upon the jury's finding of guilt, Hadley proposed that the judge should be advised of the defendant's criminal record
and mental condition, abnormal
state of the mind constituting a mitigating factor. Except that in capital cases a jury's verdict should be unanimous, Hadley submitted

Pepper's One Achievement.
Society and Politics.
Senate as Lion Tamer.
LaFollette and Dawes.WASHINGTON, June 2.
In any appraisal of the career of Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, who was lately defeated for renomination by the wet Mr. Vare, it ought to be put down to his everlasting credit that he had a large and important share in the campaign which brought about the release of the political prisoners.Pepper, it is true, voted for the seating of Newberry and refused to become outwardly excited over the oil scandals. It is true that his career, on the whole, has been marked by a deep conformity.
But standing out against this regular Republican background is the shining incident of his effective labors for the radicals who were being kept in prison long after the majority for opinions uttered in war time.Without hope of political gain for himself, Pepper went through the entire court record in the espionage act cases. His lawyer's sense of justice was outraged by what he found. From that time forward he was unremitting in his efforts to obtain executive clemency. The fact that he was a conservative, a man at the opposite pole from the imprisoned radicals,
gave added weight to his views.
It is doubtful whether the campaign would have succeeded when it did if Senator Pepper had not thrown his influence into the scale.As the outstanding journalistic champion of the cause of the political prisoners, the Post-Dispatch had an intimate view of Senator Pepper's activity. He performed a great public service in the face of much open and covert hostility in his own political and social circles.
He went against his own set stand by his convictions. Let that be remembered when the score is cast up for and against him.A WISE Washington editor used to say that he could forecast
the major political events of the capital by reading the society columns of the local newspapers. That was putting the case rather strongly, but certainly there's a deal of enlightenment to be obtained in that way.The following is from a recent issue of the Washington Star:
"Miss Pearl Zumburn entertained with a dinner dance at the Congressional Country Club.
Among the guests were Senator and Mrs. Rice W. Means, Dr. and Mrs.
H. W. Fowler, and Mr. and Mrs.
William Francis Zumburn."Means is a Senator from Colorado, elected with the aid of the Ku Klux Klan; Dr. Evans is the well-known imperial wizard, and William F. Zumburn is a Kansas city attorney who knows his way around the law. Zumburn has been engaged as one of the lawyers for Judge English in the forthcoming impeachment trial in the Senate.THE Senate is a wonderful tamer of lions. There was, for example, Frank B. Kellogg, at present the Secretary of State, who went in as a roaring trust-buster and came out with sobriquet of "Nervous Nelly." For more recent examples there is Cole Blease of South Carolina. Blease still reminates occasionally, but the intervals during which he is perfectly meek are becoming longer and longer.Then there is Vice President Dawes, who was going to shatter
the Senate rules and mood and bring in his own brand of reform.
The Vice President today is presiding with meticulous regard for the rules and traditions of the Senate. Not even Senator Reed can longer find fault with his manner.THE Senate, indeed, has found the Vice President a capable presiding officer and a likable company. He has been so often in the Senate, and so often with him getting along famously with Senators of both parties, Reed's earlier jibes left no scars on the contrary. The Vice President appears to have gone out of his way to cultivate the Missourian. It looks as if a genuine personal liking has sprung up between the two.A NOTHER subject of comment
about the Capitol is the frequency with which Vice President
Dawes calls upon "Young Bob" La-Follette to preside over the Senate.
The Vice President's campaign for election consisted largely of an attack upon the political principles of the elder La Follette. Young Bob's views are the same as his father's.Political differences, however,
are seldom carried into personal relations in the Senate, and the case of Young Bob and Dawes is no exception to the rule. Dawes recognizes in La Follette, moreover, one of the ablest parliamentarians of the Senate. During his service as his father's secretary he acquired an intimate understanding of the rules that is far above that of the average Senator.A COMING man in the Senate is George W. Goetz, who was elected in 1922 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Tom Watson. Goetz is an able constitutional lawyer and a speaker of power and charm. He showed what he debate, where he took the side of Senator Norris, and in the recent assault on the President's executive order permitting the employment of State officials as Federal agents, George has gone forward slowly and steadily. Given another term in the Senate he will be a power on the Democratic side.THE case of Senator Weller (Rep.) of Maryland is interesting. During five years in the Senate he has never made a speech;

he has never even made a motion to adjourn. On the rare occasion when he enters the chamber some of his colleagues look at him with puzzled expressions as if trying to remember who he is.GOAL SITUATION DISCUSSED

gency, first announced in the early part of the recent general strike,
was presented in the House of gotiations and announced that the Government was still ready to any moment to resume the negotiations,

but would not be forced by the strike to take political control of the mines, neither was it willing to pledge the taxpayers' money indefinitely for a single industry.The Government, however, recognized that whatever settlement was ultimately reached, it was perfectly obvious that it would be necessary to render some Government

ment was prepared to do, but he was unable to say now what form
such assistance would take.RUSSIAN AUTHOR SELLS SAME

MOSCOW, May 15.—Mikhail Si-

recently found a way to doubling the starvation royalties paid to soviet writers by selling simultaneously the same manuscript to two publishing trusts.One trust published his book with the title, "Yellow Devil" and the other under the less lurid title of "Rural October." When it was discovered that the contents were identical both publishers protested
to the local committee of the writers' union.The latter decided that while the practice was unethical, such methods were forced by the publishers,
who compelled the writers to accept unfair contracts and refused to pay them the minimum royalties specified by the Association of Revolutionary Writers. The union assured the publishers that the practice would continue.LEPROSY, IF TREATED EARLY,

LIBERAL PARTYGossip Is That Lloyd George and His Followers Will Ultimately Join Laborites.By ARTHUR E. MANN.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.LONDON, June 2.—War to the knife between the Asquith and Lloyd George branches of the Liberal party was declared openly by the publication of a letter from Lord Oxford (Asquith), written to Sir Godfrey Collins, Liberal whip
in the House of Commons, and by a letter of support to Oxford from 12 prominent leaders of his wing
of the party.In his letter to Collins yesterday, Lord Oxford declared he interpreted Lloyd George's refusal to attend
the meeting of the Liberal
"shadow" Cabinet during the general strike as equivalent to his resignation. Continuing, he said:
"I certainly so regard it."This flat statement is considered by both sides as a final attempt by Oxford to force Lloyd George out.
The latter's followers, however,
are confident their leader will win
when the test of a party vote
comes.One of his lieutenants declared that three-fourths of the Liberal voters throughout the country will support Lloyd George and that when the parliamentary Liberal party, of which he is the leader,
meets tomorrow he will receive a two to one vote of support against the Asquithians.Possible Outcome of Split.
Such a situation would result in a politically impossible situation,
with Lloyd George continuing to lead the Liberals in House and Asquith in the Lords. It is apparent
the latter anticipates such a possibility because he ended his letter with the significant sentence: "I will not continue to hold the leadership (of the Liberal party) for a day unless I am satisfied that I retain in a full measure the confidence of the party."This final split in the Liberal party is likely, in the opinion of many Liberals, to lead to more than a mere triumph of one side over the other or the creation of two Liberal parties. There is a resurrection of the talk, despite all denials,
of Lloyd George and his followers forming an independent group in Commons and gradually drawing toward the Labor party until a final union is effected with the latter.Not a Trivial Matter.
Commenting on Lloyd George's actions during the general strike, Lord Oxford's letter said:
"Nor was the difference of attitude and policy which it announced (meaning Lloyd George's abstention from the 'shadow Cabinet'
meeting), one that in my judgment
could be smoothed away as a trivial matter of transient importance. It was clear and clean cut. There is no question here of 'excommunication'
or 'ostracism.' Mr. Lloyd George, in the exercise of his own judgment and for reasons which I am the last to question the gravity of, chose to separate himself in the most formal manner from our deliberations in a moment of great national emergency. He was not driven out; he refused to come in."Function of "Shadow Cabinet."
"The 'Shadow Cabinet' is a substitute, when the leaders of the party are in opposition, for the actual cabinet when they are in office, and it has always been understood that membership in this involves similar obligations. I have met in many Cabinets, under various Prime Ministers, and I have not known one of these who would not have treated such a communication sent at such a time as equivalent to resignation."Had the Liberal leader adopted Lloyd George's view on the general strike, Lord Oxford continues, "we should have been doing our best to weaken the authority of the Government."The letter from the 12 Asquithian leaders in Commons and Lords to Lord Oxford during the general strike, his breaking up of the first war-time coalition Cabinet
when he succeeded Asquith as Premier, and his retention of separate headquarters and party funds
after the Liberal reunion. It concluded:"We cannot feel surprised at your stability destroys confidence."Swedish Socialists Cabinet Quits.

Our Future Parks.

LOOKING ahead for the development of St. Louis and her future, and taking into consideration the features connected with her past growth, would it not be well for St. Louis at the present time to take advantage of her future possibility and invest in parks now adjacent to our city, namely, St. Louis County?

Having read a book which was published in 1875, a great deal was written with reference to the purchase of Forest Park. At that time a great deal of discussion was entered into, and quite a good deal of condemnation was showered on the heads of the sponsors of this purchase, for in that period travel was of a different character than it is today. Would it not be well for St. Louis to consider all these conditions and avail herself of the opportunity of buying acre tracts for our growth and posterity? If the vision that these men had had not been carried into effect, today we would not have our beautiful Forest Park, the playgrounds for ourselves as well as others.

While land values are on the increase, still a great many large tracts of land can be bought at a most reasonable price, and it would be well for the present city administration to look into this matter and buy now, which in the future will be called well and wise. There is no question but the day is not far distant when the boundary line of our city will be beyond the Denney road—perhaps, a little more vision would say the Missouri River, and I take it, as a realist, that the prices that the city could obtain these tracts for would be small compared to the gain the future generations would receive as a result of this vision, for St. Louis in 1950 should have a population of not less than 2,000,000 people. There will be no excuse for us to say to the next generation that we forgot to plan for our future growth. The great amount of money being expended at the present time for parks and widening of streets can be obviated if we but look ahead.

A Letter of Gratitude.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NOT knowing party who drove through Bridgeton Sunday morning, May 30, between 11 and 12, we find this their opportunity to thank them for their conscientious and careful driving, otherwise our only boy of 8 years would have been crushed to death.

We ourselves did not witness this, but heard the driver stop when brakes were applied, within about two feet from the lad, but saw the machine, a sedan, drive slowly away. Fortunately, our little lad crossed the street safely. If every driver would have his machine under control at this party had, it would mean fewer deaths from careless driving.

Again we thank this careful driver.

Disloyal to the Anti-Saloon League.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE leaders charge that it is unpatriotic and disloyal to support a referendum for the repeal of the Missouri dry law. In a country where every man is supposed to be born free and equal, where the Government is supposed to be by the people, then if a majority desire the repeal, this majority is guilty of treason. I maintain that it is my right to try and change the law as long as I do not step on anybody's toes, and that it is not any public reformer's right to tell me what I should drink or how I should vote on any public question, and that they are absolutely out of order to hurl accusations of disloyalty at any one who does not agree with them.

Boys in Sherman Park.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MY dear K. A. S.: In your letter about Sherman Park, you say that boys should be stopped from racing around "with their shirts off." Who ever heard of anyone running on a cinder track with collar and tie, etc.? If you have ever had any contact with any track men, you will find the champion lived clean and played the game square. And—if these boys choose to be champions for an ideal—is that wrong?

Again, just why should a person seeking a "nice" rest and comfortable benches go in a part of the park where there are no trees, no benches, only baseball diamonds, a cinder track, and no lights? I ask you is that nice?

These boys—14 to 15 years old—used "horrible language." If they were running, how much could you hear unless you ran beside them?

Then, too, the boys are mostly working boys out for a little recreation. Is it fair to deny them this so you will not be horrified?

If these boys are—as you suggest—morally rotten, is it not the fault of many, who, like you, criticize, but would be damned before they helped the M. C. A. or Boy Scouts. These organizations work for boys, not against them like "horrible knackers."

Yours for the boys, G. U.

THE GRAND JURY ACTS.

The grand jury, under the able and energetic direction of Attorney-General Gentry, in the investigation of the Rutherford case, has accomplished important results. It has brought into court three indictments, involving three leading persons in the conspiracy to defeat justice.

One indictment charges Howard Sidener, Circuit Attorney, and A. Samuel Bender, special prosecutor in the Rutherford case, with having entered into a corrupt agreement with John Rutherford to undertake for a large sum of money to compound and conceal the felony for which William Allen Scott Rutherford had been indicted. It charges that Sidener and Bender agreed to and did desist from the prosecution of William Allen Scott Rutherford for the murder of Meyer Tucker, the Majestic Hotel bellboy.

Another indictment charges Circuit Attorney Sidener with fraud in office, in that he did, "by false, fraudulent, corrupt statements and representations," induce the Court to release Rutherford from the charge of murder, on a fine of $500.

A third indictment charges John Rutherford, brother of William Scott Rutherford, with bribery, in corruptly influencing the judgment, action and conduct of Circuit Attorney Sidener in his official capacity, by a large sum of money given to Sidener and Bender to induce them to neglect and omit the performance of their official duties.

In short, the grand jury charges that C. Howard Sidener, Circuit Attorney, and A. Samuel Bender, special prosecutor in the Rutherford case, accepted bribes from Rutherford, and that John Rutherford gave them money to bring about the defeat of justice in the Rutherford case.

In the judgment of the grand jury, after hearing 65 witnesses, the Rutherford job is as rotten as the Post-Dispatch declared it to be on the evidence gathered by this newspaper. The demand for a thorough grand jury investigation under the direction of the Attorney-General, and the action of the Governor in ordering it, are fully justified by these sweeping indictments of Sidener, Bender and John Rutherford.

These indictments, involving bribery, fraud in office, corrupt influence, are the first steps in the cleaning up of the administration of justice in the city of St. Louis. They are effective steps. The work, however, of the grand jury is not yet finished. Not only are there the cases of others implicated in the conspiracy to defeat justice in the Rutherford case, but there are other cases involving the Circuit Attorney's office to be investigated. Under the instructions of the Governor, the Attorney-General, through the grand jury, can go far in the investigation of criminal prosecutions in this city. It can go far toward exposing the rottenness existing in that administration and in bringing to bar those that are guilty of corruption or other misconduct in office.

Indictments are only findings of a grand jury on ex parte evidence. They are not proofs of guilt. It is necessary that the indictments be followed by vigorous and fearless prosecution. Whether innocence or guilt is established in these cases, there ought to be no doubt that the ultimate outcome will represent the whole truth, based upon all the facts. Popular indignation over the failure of the administration of justice in this city in notable criminal cases, culminating in the Rutherford outrage, is mingled with regret that public officers entrusted with the high duty and responsibility of prosecuting criminals, at a time when crime is raging, should betray their trust and join with criminals and their defenders in defeating justice and encouraging crime.

Nothing short of a searching investigation, indictment and punishment of all the guilty, through determined prosecution, will satisfy the people of St. Louis.

A STORY OF STEEL.

The United States Steel Corporation, through one of its bureaus, announces that it has conducted an organized campaign for accident prevention for 20 years, during which period it has expended $158,000,000. Only a part of that expenditure—$15,700,000—is charged directly to safety. An investment of $28,000,000 has been made in sanitation, and under the heading of welfare, which includes playgrounds, schools, clubs, gardens and similar activities.

According to the bureau's report, 48,000 men have been saved from death or serious injury, and accidents have been averted which would have disabled 323,000 workmen. How those figures are arrived at we do not know; presumably they are accurate.

The United States Steel Corporation doubtless takes pride in this accounting and the results achieved, and justifiably so. Here are statistics that are vital with meaning.

The obvious truth is that the wholesome conditions in our industrial plants, brought about in part by social legislation and in part by enlightened selfishness, have contributed importantly to our efficiency. Inventions, new factory practice, the magic which Henry Ford's success has imparted to quantity production—all these have been factors in promoting efficiency and advancing wages.

There is another factor—an intangible one. It is that spiritual element which is ever asserting itself with growing authority as "the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns." Evolution has simply wiped off the slate the formula of the economic man which, in the old textbooks, read "the greatest possible return, for the least possible expenditure, in the shortest possible time." That is pagan now. New vision has entered industry. It is the realization that there is a direct relationship between efficiency and good wages; that the only enduring prosperity is the prosperity that is "passed around."

An interesting and illuminating glimpse of the facts and the philosophy of American industry is furnished by this report of the United States Steel Corporation. We commend it to the platelass economists and grape-juice theorists who want us to believe that efficiency, high wages and all good things are manna from the dry sky.

OUR OVERBURDENED PRESIDENTS.

Reports from Washington inform us that the strain of office is telling upon President Coolidge in his physical health; that he looks haggard and tired and is plainly in need of rest. And it is among the possibilities that we shall hear again the suggestion made following President Harding's death that the office of assistant to the President should be created for the lightening of the President's duties.

That the President's office is a killing one no one can doubt, but it was not always so. Up to a quarter of a century ago, when the consolidationists and centralizers embarked the Federal Government upon its intermeddling paternalism and bureaucracy, no one ever heard of an executive who was overworked. Until that time the principle had been consistently acted upon that we were one nation directed from Washington in all foreign affairs and separate ones as autonomous states in all domestic concerns.

Within the last 25 years all of our Presidents have approved—none has opposed—constant multiplication of the powers and duties of the Federal Government at the expense of local self-government and the integrity of the states: year by year the domestic concerns of the states have been openly and stealthily transferred to an executive board or bureau in Washington, with the President ultimately responsible for administration, until it is now beyond the physical or intellectual capacity of the wisest and best-intentioned executive to direct so vast a machine.

The solution of this problem does not lie in the creation of additional executive offices, absorbing additional Federal taxes, but in simplifying the machine and redistributing the powers of local self-government according to the wise design of the founders. As between remote government and local government the former is notoriously more extravagant, oppressive and corrupt; and to enlarge the Federal executive personnel is merely to rivet distant government upon us more fully.

The ardent lover of his country and its battered institutions is tempted to discern the hand of Providence meting out retributive justice in those high places where our great experiment in self-government is betrayed, although ignorantly and unintentionally.

There are bone dries and bonehead dries.

REASONABLE FISH PROTECTION.

In the interest of fish and fishermen, the law with regard to closed seasons for certain fish should be made clear and in accordance with the different habits of different fish as to spawning. The arrest of the State secretary and the former president of the Izak Walton League for fishing for trout with artificial bait at this time of year does not appear to be justified by the necessity to protect these fish. The trout is a cold-water fish and does not spawn until fall. Indeed, in Northern New England, according to the Americana, spawning does not take place until November or early December.

Basas, however, spawn in the spring, from March until June, according to the latitude. They should be protected during that period. A law making the closed season the same for all fish is manifestly the result of ignorance. As a whole, our fish and game laws are reasonable and well enforced. But spring is manifestly the best time for trout fishing. Let the Izak Walton League see to it that whatever defects there may be in the closed season sections shall be remedied.

The Miller recall petitions have been signed by 55,121 persons, the majority of whom, we suppose, are many golfers.

MONKEY BUSINESS IS BAD.

The antivivisection movement seems to be slipping. The antivivisectionists seem no longer disposed to fight, bleed and die for their cause. It has come to this, that they do not attend a man-or-monkey debate. There is no lower level of interest than that.

It appears that some of the survivors of the late unpleasantness, uninformed as to the present decadence, have been beating the bushes in North Carolina, trying to work up a frenzy in favor of putting evolution out of the schools. In furtherance of the aim a debate was announced at Charlotte, on the subject: "Resolved, That the teaching of evolution, that man evolved from a lower order of animals, be excluded from the tax-supported schools." A Mississippi man, representing the Antivivisection League, was to speak for the affirmative and a Detroit lawyer for the negative.

It was the expectation, or at least the hope, that there would be a great turnout of antis and that the rumblings and reverberations would reach the legislators and cause them to tremble in their boots.

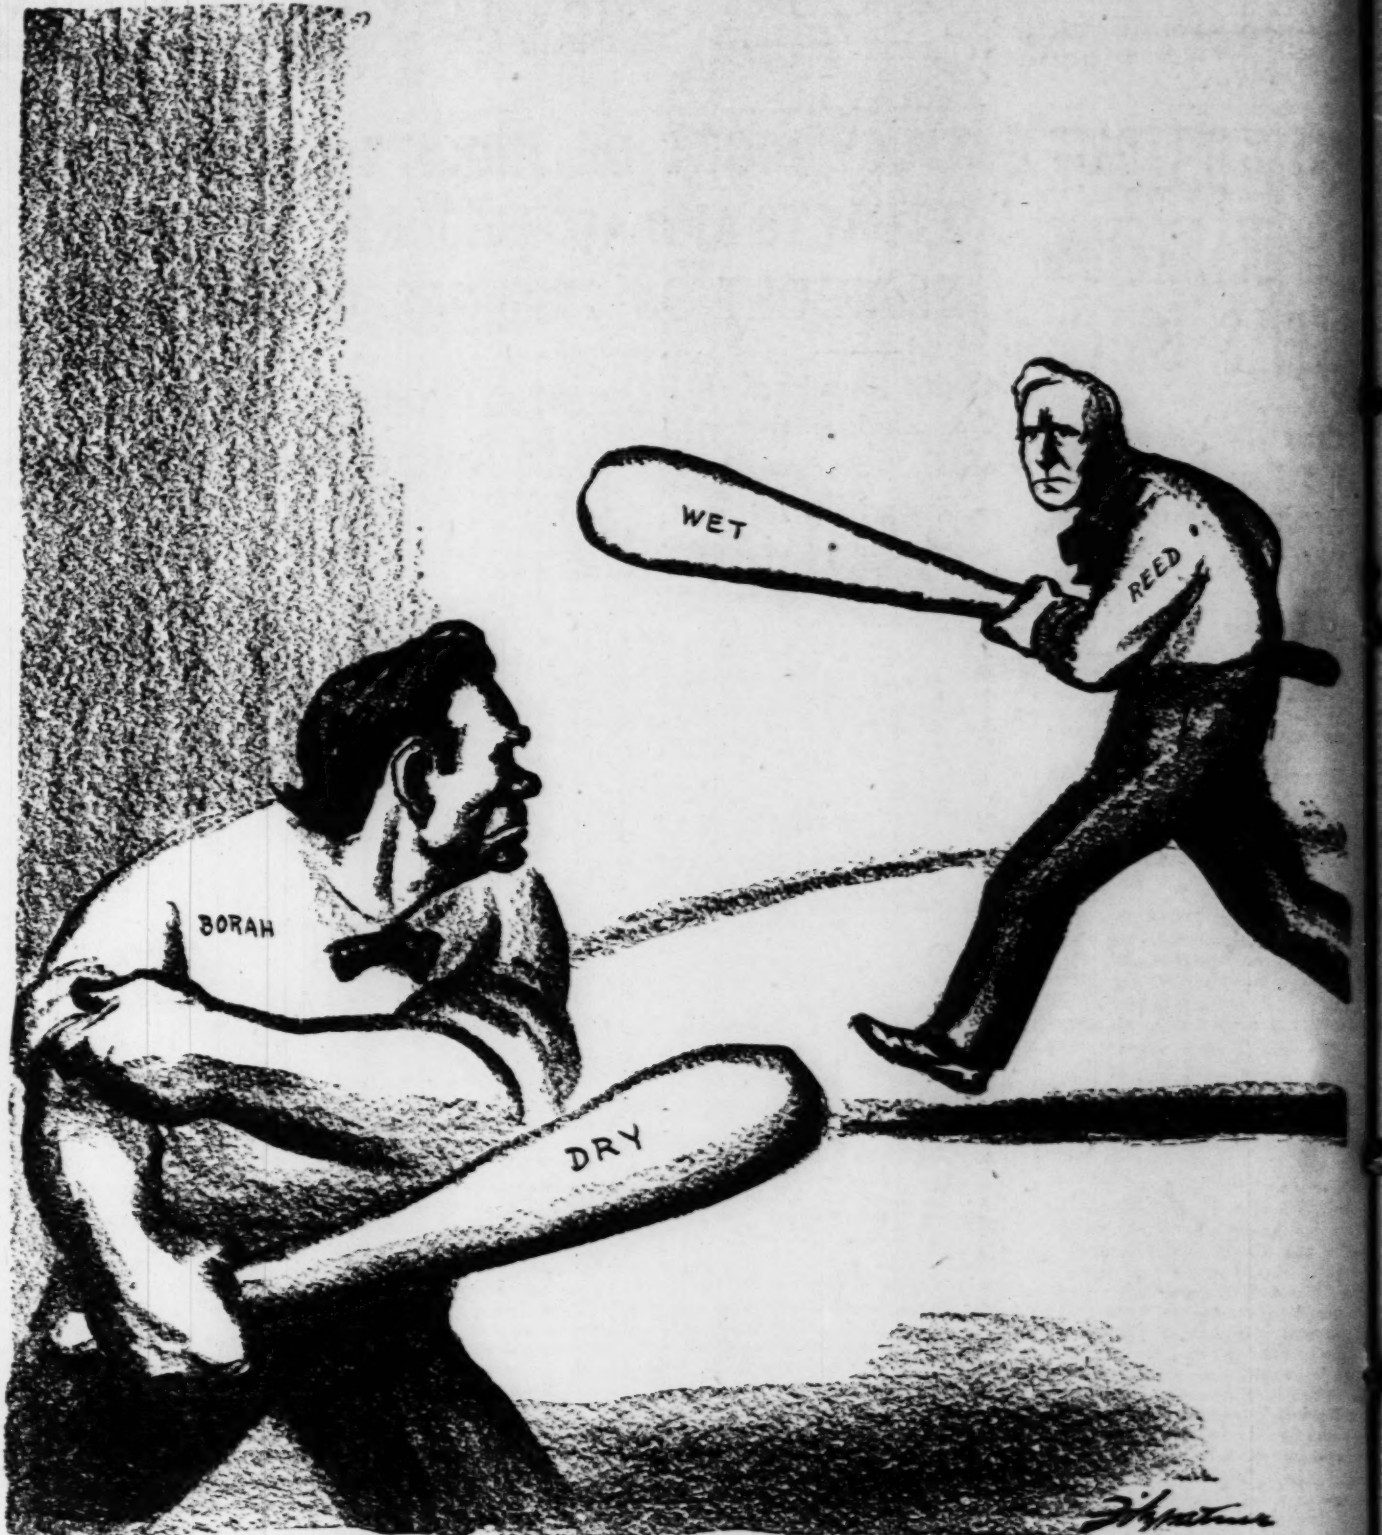

The debate was held, but there was no great turnout. The audience was estimated at 150. Most of those present are presumed to have been antis, since the pros, unwilling to admit that there is anything before the house, do not usually attend such affairs. No school teachers were there, which speaks well for the intelligence of the North Carolina school teachers. The only minister there was the doorkeeper, who functioned in that capacity as an accommodation to the brother from Mississippi. The one physician on hand may have been misled into the expectation that he would be needed.

All in all, the news from North Carolina is reassuring. It is not too much to hope that the monkey business will soon be over.

France, you might say, has finally checked its Krim wave.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

Socrates: There was some mystification as to Borah at the agora last night. You know Borah has become to the dries what Achilles was to the hoofs before Troy. He was over at Baltimore the other day in his shining armor, and it is said that the wets there are in a state of panic. They did not mind Wayne B. Wheeler and his sort. All those people are paid for their services, and they may be said therefore not to have any conviction. Borah, of course, is not, as many congressmen are, on the payroll of the dries. What puzzles everybody was to know why he had dared to become the outstanding spokesman of the dries. It was understood that as a Senator from Idaho he had to be dry in the Senate, but that is quite a different thing than to become what we are told he is now.

Glaucou: Isn't it explained that Borah likely hopes to be made President by the dries?

Socrates: Yes. I do not know how practical that is. It would mean that old party lines would have to be abandoned and the next presidential campaign given over to a straight-out battle between wets and dries. Coolidge, who is always a candidate for something, serves the purposes of anything less than that. He is officially dry. There is his celebrated ukase making constables-at-large.

Polemarchus: We are to assume, I suppose, that in such an event Borah would be really dry.

Socrates: Precisely. He would be as dry as a covered bridge. Well, we discussed all this at the agora. Some of those participating thought we were about to exaggerate the importance of the liquor issue and probably would find the people indisposed to abandon old parties to get this issue settled. Others thought it would take 25 years to settle it no matter who won. Critics thought it would take as long to settle it as it will take to rid ourselves of the delusion that we can make people drink soda water.

Thrasymachus: What did you say, Socrates?

Socrates: I had no opinion as to the presidential aspect of the matter. However, I was interested in Borah as a dry. He has always seemed to me our most incredible dry. Borah is in many ways the most interesting man in the Senate. He is a single disciple of pure thought. He usually hunts alone. It is not like him to hunt with any pack, and to see him become lead bound for the oddly-assorted and emotional dries is as amazing a spectacle as I ever witnessed.

Glaucou: Zounds, yes.

Socrates: What I was interested in was the probability that we are all like Borah. That is, how many of us have a conviction in this matter aside from necessity? I doubt of there is one such. Borah's belief is created by his bread and butter. We all think we stand upon high ground upon this issue, but the press and politicians are either wet or dry as their constituents are wet or dry. Do you know some place where the press and the politicians are not like that? Polemarchus: No.

Socrates: Some day I will undertake to prove that whatever conviction we have upon any subject is that dictated by our bread and butter. Borah is from Idaho. He has his choice between being a dry in the Senate and a practicing lawyer in Boise. How would you like to be a lawyer in Boise?

Thrasymachus: I would not like it.

Socrates: Of course you wouldn't. We ought not, therefore, to be too hard on Borah. He has liberal tendencies, but he can't be a wet from a state where everybody else is dry.

Glaucou: I suppose that if he hopes to be president he feels that he ought to have his own state with him.

Socrates: Yes. That is usually necessary. After all, we are not what any politician made us. We are only what they have to deal with.

Polemarchus: You said something then. Socrates: Very well. Now let us go in swimming and see if water is really as fine as the dries say.

Sir: As an ardent admirer of the poet, Oliver Wendell Holmes, I wish to express my gratitude to Bihanus for reproducing Holmes' Ode for a social meeting, beginning, "Come, fill a fresh bumper, for why should we go while the nectar still reddens our cups as they flow?"

But why should Bihanus claim, as he seems to, that the verses are his own? Can it be that he committed them to memory years ago and that, in the enthusiasm of his imitations, they became so intermingled with his own that he couldn't tell them apart? If so, it is a most marvelous case of unconscious cerebration.

You will find the Ode with the introductory letter on page 142 of Holmes' Complete Poems, Cambridge edition.

Read it again, dear Plintin. He made no such claim.

Very good, I. W. S., but what was the operation by which human differences were composed in the pleasant land of Lagoda? We dislike to see two such useful men as Senators Reed and Borah destroy one another in a fight over prohibition, and if there is something that can be done we want to suggest it.

Mat Henson, the Negro who was with Peary when he reached the North Pole, cited some very plausible reasons why land does not exist there. We now have it black on white, as it were.

UNDOMESTICATED.

She was far too young for the song she sung.

And for her age too wise; The pale-faced roués as they sipped their booze, Undressed her with their eyes.

She was very sweet and so "tres petite" She seemed but just a child; No evil trace on her angel face, But lord, that girl was wild!

She brushed my hair as she passed my chair, I offered her a beer; She up and spat like a panther cat, And bit me in the ear!

THE RUTHERFORD CASE.

From the Jefferson City Capital News.

OF course there must be contemplation and consideration of judgment in viewing that disgraceful mess connected with the Rutherford case in St. Louis, which now is absorbing so much attention in the public prints. It would be unjust to say off-hand and arbitrarily that any one of the parties to the matter in any sense are guilty of a supreme public offense, but it must be said regardless of any judicious conception, the case has done more to destroy confidence and respect among the people of Missouri for the courts and officers of the law in the city of St. Louis than any other thing that has occurred in many years. The case is particularly unfortunate, considering the ambition of that city to control the State.

We are howling and kicking about when we term a crime wave, and are calling about to try to find a way whereby it may be checked, but how can any criminal tendency be stemmed if it is found possible for a killer to escape the penalties of proper justice by the mere payment of a fine?

What right have we to complain of professional gunmen and gangsters who make murder their accepted trade, when it is possible for a wealthy defendant to obtain his freedom by the payment of sums of money to persons discreetly associated with the officials of the law?

Why kick upon the fact that men may be hired to do murder when a killer may be free upon the payment of a petty fine, apparently by an extraordinary agreement which not yet has been explained? How can there be respect for the law when a killer may dodge the law by the payment of a mere fine, no matter whether it be $500 or $50,000? The law itself must be clean in its administration if it is to obtain and hold the confidence and respect of the general public. The prosecuting officers must be of such type and character as to inspire public trust, and there must not be so much smoke that is suggestive of a smoldering fire somewhere as there has been in and about certain offices in St. Louis.

It is devoutly to be hoped that the whole thing will be sifted to the bottom and that there will be appropriate fixing of responsibility.

"WHO GOT THE MONEY?"

From the Bloomfield (Mo.) Vindicator.

CIRCUIT ATTORNEY SIDENER, Republican, of St. Louis, is showing up as a sorry light as the investigation of the Rutherford case proceeds. Rutherford, a young army officer, engaged in a drunken carousal in St. Louis a few months ago and ended by shooting and killing a boy at the Majestic Hotel. After delaying the case for weeks the Circuit Attorney's office recommended that Rutherford be let off with a fine of $500. Newspaper investigation developed that a wealthy brother of Lieut. Rutherford at Pine Bluff, Ark., had spent $14,500 in "arranging" this settlement of the case. He said that he understood that the mother of the murdered boy was to receive some of the money, but says she has not been paid anything. The question in the minds of decent people is: who got the money?

to New York.

Paul V. Bunn, retiring secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received an engrossed resolution and a watch as gifts from the Chamber and its Board of Directors, at the testimonial dinner held in his honor at Hotel Jefferson last night. A large bouquet was given to Mrs. Bunn.

Bunn has accepted the presidency of the Ford Dealers' Mutual Finance Corporation of New York, and will move to that city. He was succeeded in the secretaryship yesterday by William T. Findly, previously secretary to the Mayor, Carl F. G. Meyer, president of the Chamber, introduced Mayor Miller as the first speaker. The Mayor, addressing his hearers as "friends," added, "I hope 51 per cent of you are friends." He said he could not say funny things, as dinner speakers are supposed to do, and continued: "Some of my acts may have seemed funny, but they were not intentionally so. One of the fine things in public life is to have a friend come and whisper in your ear, 'I'm with you, but for the Lord's sake don't tell anybody.'"

"I once had an idea I amounted to something. That was when I was on the Police Board. Then along came a fellow and put me off. And without even a trial—I always give them a trial. The next morning I was surprised to learn that no cops had quit their jobs." The Mayor termed Bunn the balance wheel of the Chamber of Commerce. He praised Findly, Bunn's successor.

Former Mayor Kiel told of meetings with Bunn at the baseball park, and said Bunn seemed to be trying to figure out a way for the Browns to win the pennant.

"I wish he could stay to see that day, and to see the Delmar grade crossing, the bridge problem and the county-city merger, all solved."

W. Frank Carter, John G. Lonsdale, W. Palmer Clarkson, W. Scott Hancock, Lon Sanders, Charles M. Hay, Findly and Bunn were speakers. More than 200 were present.

A letter to the Post-Dispatch from the Lady Leith of Fyvie, the former Miss Mary Louise January of St. Louis, discloses the fact that the estate of her late husband, Lord Leith of Fyvie, who died in England April 23, was willed to their daughter, the Honorable Lady Burn, and not to the widow as was stated in a news dispatch published on that date in the Post-Dispatch. The estate has been estimated as being worth $2,500,000. A condition of the will called upon Lord Leith's daughter and her husband, Sir Charles Rosden Burn, to take his name, a condition also made obligatory upon all future inheritors of the estate, which includes Fyvie Castle, in Scotland. Sir Charles and Lady Burn are well known as Forbes-Leith of Fyvie. Upon their death the estate will pass to their only son, Ian Forbes-Leith.

Miss January was married to Lord Leith of Fyvie in Paris in 1870. Her husband did not enter the employment of Miss January's father, the late Derick January of St. Louis, and did not later become a partner of Andrew Carnegie, as stated in news dispatches at the time of his death.

The proper care of your teeth and gums

Your mouth may be your most dangerous enemy

PROMINENT dental authorities agree that upwards of seventy per cent of general bodily disorders gain access to the body through the mouth. Such diseases as rheumatism, pernicious anemia, kidney disorders, heart trouble, often follow tooth decay.

Proper care of the mouth should safeguard you from this danger. Yet many people brush their teeth regularly and nevertheless suffer from tooth decay. Why? Because a tooth-brush cannot reach into all the pits and crevices in your teeth. Especially is this true at The Danger Line—where the teeth and gums meet. Here the rounded edges of the gums form tiny V-shaped crevices into which food particles collect. Acids form that cause decay and irritate the gums. They must be neutralized if your health is to be safeguarded.

Squibb's Dental Cream does just this. It contains more than 50 per cent of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—a safe, effective antacid. After each brushing with Squibb's Dental Cream, tiny particles of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia remain in the crevices at The Danger Line and elsewhere, neutralizing acids, and providing protection for a considerable period.

Squibb's Dental Cream cleans beautifully, too. Begin its use today. At drug stores everywhere—only 40 cents a large tube.

RESTORE RIGHT OF COMMENT TO JUDGE, SAYS HADLEY

that 10 out of 12 jurors could return a felony verdict and five out of six a misdemeanor verdict.

Power to Refuse Nolle Pross. Recommending a written explanation of a nolle pross by the prosecutor, Hadley urges that Judges be empowered to refuse to accept it or to make investigation as to whether the case should be dropped. If the Judge thinks it should be tried, he should be authorized to appoint a special prosecutor, to take the matter out of the hands of the regular one.

This proposal is of particular interest at this time, in view of the Rutherford murder case investigation. Surveys in Missouri and elsewhere, Hadley said, have raised a question as to how well prosecutors are doing their duty.

Concerning the offer of insanity as a defense, Hadley reported: "There are several phases of this problem, incident to the time when it is alleged the defendant became insane."

"If it is claimed that the defendant is insane at the time of the trial, this defense should be brought to the attention of the Court before the trial begins, and this question should then be determined by an independent judicial investigation, where this is the sole issue to be decided, for the manifest reason that an insane man cannot under the law be presumed to be able to conduct a defense to a criminal charge."

"Second, if it is claimed that the defendant was insane at the time that he committed the offense and thereafter became sane, this plea, if it can be constitutionally required, should be submitted in advance and the Court should appoint official examiners experienced in mental diseases to testify at the trial."

"Third, if the claim is that the defendant has become insane after conviction, then this issue should be examined into by a jury. In case an examination by a commission of competent experts presents reasonable ground for belief that such a plea is true."

Legal Test, Not Medical. "One of the difficulties of dealing with the defense of insanity is that the legal test of insanity is not the medical test. . . . A defendant found insane should be confined and if he should subsequently be adjudged sane, the original sentence should be carried out. If a defendant should be found insane prior to trial, he should also be confined and prosecuted if subsequently his sanity is restored."

The State should have the right to appeal from rulings of the trial court in criminal cases, though not from verdicts of acquittal. Hadley held, because heretofore decisions of appellate tribunals have all been on the defense side, resulting in a "whittling away" of the rights of society. This, he declared, would help in the fight against technicalities and the "glorification of formalism."

Typewritten transcripts and briefs, instead of printed documents, should be permissible on appeals, he maintained, to save expense. The appellate court should be permitted to receive testimony or affidavits on contested questions of trial procedure.

The appellate court, Hadley recommended, should be empowered to reduce excessive punishment without remanding a case for retrial. Appeals should only be allowed, he held further, on the ground of errors by the trial court producing a miscarriage of justice. In every case of capital punishment, he proposed review by the State Supreme Court. The court, he said, should pay the expense of a poor person's appeal.

Post Substantive Above Form. "We shall never reach a satisfactory administration of criminal justice," the Chancellor declared, "until our courts come to place the substance above the form and to regard the question as to whether justice has been done as more important than whether some technical rule of procedure has been violated."

MAYOR MILLER ADVOCATES EDUCATING THE NEEDY

"Not only an opportunity for self-help to the unfortunate but the teaching of respect for God and others in authority is the aim of modern charity," Mayor Miller told workers in the Jewish Orphan Home drive, at a campaign luncheon yesterday at Hotel Statler.

"We used to think giving money to those in need was charity. Now we know money spent in that way might just as well be thrown down the sewer. Though there are still 7000 feeble-minded and insane in St. Louis, on whom $4,000,000 is annually spent, we are beginning to find that it is a far more effective measure to teach them, as they are taught at the School for the Feeble Minded, than it is to support them all their days in some institution."

The drive is to raise $200,000 by Thursday, when the formal campaign closes. Fifty thousand dollars more is expected to be subscribed before the home is built. Yesterday's reports brought the total already pledged to $156,000.

Copper Ore Found in Sweden. By the Associated Press. STOCKHOLM, June 2.—New discoveries of copper ore have been made in the Skelleftea district, close to the Arctic circle, in Northern Sweden, where deposits of valuable minerals, including silver and gold, previously had been traced. The new finds are near the city of Skelleftea on the Baltic coast. Abandonment of the coal mines at Spitzbergen has been decided upon by the Swedish Riksdag.

LACLEDE CO. AGAIN HINTS AT LOWERING QUALITY OF ITS GAS

Mentions Proposal Rejected in 1921 in Latest Brief to State Public Service Commission.

CITY TO CHALLENGE COMPANY'S FIGURES

Latter's Claim to Valuation of $74,795,460 Is More Than Double the City's Estimate.

A suggestion that the Public Service Commission permit the Laclede Gas Light Co. to lower the quality of its gas is contained in the lawyers' brief filed yesterday with the Commission in which the company declares that the cost of reproducing new its property, $74,795,466, is the sum on which it should be entitled to base its rates. This is more than double the sum the city asserts to be a "fair value" for the company.

"In this proceeding," the brief declares, "the company and the city introduced evidence which, the company believes, calls for permission at this time to furnish a lower standard of gas than now served. In order that the company may give more uniform gas to its customers."

Request Was Refused.
The commission threshed out this proposal when it was made by the company in 1921. At that time the commission refused it, after hearings in St. Louis at which large users of gas, such as hotels and coffee roasters, protested. The company's position is that residence customers will get day in and day out, a more regular quality of gas if the heat units are reduced from 600, as now required, to 570 or less, preferably less. It points out that if the quality is regularly maintained, that household appliances can be set more accurately to utilize a maximum of the heat units.

The city's chief evidence to the contrary is an investigation of the United States Department of Commerce in cities where the gas companies have been allowed to reduce the heat units. The general conclusion of that investigation was that as heat units are reduced the volume of gas used is increased and the increase often is greater in ratio than the reduction of heat units.

The gas company, in its previous effort to have heat units reduced, offered no compensating reduction in rates. It does not indicate at this time whether it would be willing to reduce rates if permitted to reduce the quality of gas.

To Challenge Company's Figures.
The city, in a brief to be filed with the Public Service Commission within 15 days, will challenge the theory upon which the company seeks to justify a valuation in excess of $74,000,000. To yield the company a fair return on this valuation, an increase in gas rates here of more than 40 per cent would be required, though the company disavows any present intention to increase rates. The city will urge that the valuation shall recognize the subtraction of a considerable sum to represent the present condition of the company's property. The company contends that no deduction should be made for depreciation, at least, not more than $700,000, which it estimates the cost of putting its plants in 100 per cent operating condition.

The city will challenge also the company's contention that reproduction cost is the sole measure of fair value. The city has placed fair value at $38,700,000.

SWEDISH PRINCE SITS IN WASHINGTON'S CHAIR

He Is Formally Welcomed to Philadelphia in Ceremony at Independence Hall.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 2.—Cheering crowds today welcomed Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise Alexandra of Sweden as they motored through the city.

They were formally welcomed to the city by Mayor Kendrick in Independence Hall, to which they were escorted by the First Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry.

The Crown Prince sat in the chair used by George Washington when he signed the Constitution of the United States, and by the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The Crown Prince studied the lettering on the Liberty Bell.

Yesterday the Prince got the degree of Doctor of Laws from Princeton University. The royal guests visited old Swedish Church in the southern part of the city and participated in the cornerstone laying of a replica of a Swedish blockhouse that stood on the banks of the Delaware before William Penn founded Philadelphia. The Crown Prince also took part in the cornerstone laying of the Memorial building in the Sesqui-centennial grounds in honor of John Morton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

NEW YORK PRESBYTERY WINS VINDICATION

Assembly Rejects Charges of Insubordination—Divorce Issue Sent to Committee.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., June 2.—The Presbyterian General Assembly on its closing day found itself rid of its most vexing question, that of the New York Presbytery, and in possession of another with equal possibilities for debate next year,
the divorce question.

The New York Presbytery case, involving charges of insubordination, resulted in complete exoneration of the presbytery on the recommendation of the Judicial Committee. The charges resulted from a report last year protesting that the General Assembly had no right to censure the presbytery for ordaining a minister who would not affirm his belief in the virgin birth.
The divorce question was raised in an overture demanding the elimination of willful desertion from the causes for divorce countenanced by the church. This would leave only unfaithfulness as a reason for divorce. As this involves a constitutional change, it was referred to a committee for a report
next year, after which two-thirds of the presbyteries would have to ratify the change before it could become effective.

The assembly dismissed the complaint of the Rev. Francis Goff against the Synod of Missouri for failure to admonish the Rev. James Hardin Smith for "aiding and abetting in disregarding the presbytery." The minister was charged with acting as pastor of the congregation known as University Presbyterian Church, 6166 Delmar
boulevard, without authorization
of the St. Louis Presbytery. The Presbytery had not sanctioned the location of the University Church.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS REDUCED

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 2.—Twenty-eight class 1 railroads have succeeded in reducing accidental injuries 35 per cent or better in the last two years, says a report made public by the American Engineering Council, which is conducting a nation-wide survey of safety and production in 2000 industrial plants.

A similar reduction on all the railway lines of the United States is the goal set for 1930 by the American Railway Association.
The estimated two-year reduction on all class one railroads is 525 killed and 26,295 injured. The Union Pacific leads in the reduction of casualties.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 85

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purg" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

'KING OF OSAGE HILLS' NAMED IN MURDER PLOT

Oklahoma Convict Testifies
W. K. Hale Planned Killing of Three Persons.

By the Associated Press.
PAWBUKA, Ok., June 2.—Two convicts from the State penitentiary were called as prosecution witnesses today in the State District Court trial of Ernest Burkhardt, charged with killing W. E. Smith, a white man, who, with his Osage Indian wife, Rita, and a white servant girl, lost his life in an explosion which destroyed the Smith home at Fairfax four years ago.

Kelsey Morrison, a convict, testified yesterday that he killed Anna Brown, Osage Indian woman, four years ago at the bidding of W. K. Hale, wealthy rancher, known as "King of the Osage Hills." Hale, who is Burkhardt's uncle, is awaiting trial with John Ramsey, a farmer, on a murder charge in connection with Smith's death.

Government officers assisting in the investigation say that unless renewed litigation in the United States Supreme Court prevents, Hale and Ramsey probably will face trial in Federal District Court on a charge of murdering Henry Roan, Osage Indian, before they are tried on the Smith charge. This announcement followed yesterday's Supreme Court decision holding murder committed on restricted Indian allotments in Oklahoma is punishable under Federal laws.

Anna Brown and Rita Smith were sisters of Burkhardt's Osage wife, Mollie, all of whom were daughters of Lizzie Q., wealthy Indian woman, now deceased. The Lizzie Q. family fortune is estimated at $2,000,000. Morrison testified that Hale and Burkhardt conspired to wipe out the family in the hope of gaining control of the estate.

RAILROAD FORECLOSURE RULES GIVEN BY U. S. SUPREME COURT

Holders of Stocks and Bonds May Organize but Must Guard Rights of All Creditors.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 2.—Important rules to be observed by Federal Courts in foreclosure of railroad property were laid down by the Supreme Court on an appeal by the Kansas City Terminal Railway Co., and other creditors of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas.

Creditors had insisted on their rights to participate in the reorganization on an equal footing with the bond and stockholders, and when the case was decided against them they appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which asked the Supreme Court for instructions.

In an opinion read by Justice McReynolds, the Supreme Court held that the bondholders and stockholders could enter into an open arrangement to preserve their interest, but they must guard the interests of mortgagees and all creditors. A railroad reorganization plan which does not give precedence to the entire claim of creditors over any part or interest of a stockholder in the old company is not sufficient as to unsecured creditors and is not binding upon them.

ANOTHER ROUNDUP OF WILD HORSES IN NATIONAL FOREST

It Is Estimated That There Are Still 500 of These Useless Animals in Montana Range.

By the Associated Press.
BOZEMAN, Mont., June 2.—Last year the forest service initiated the plan of rounding up and disposing of all wild horses within the confines of the national forests and plans to continue the drive this year.

In 1925 there were 300 head captured in the Gallatin national forest alone and it is estimated that there are 500 of these useless animals still within this forest range. Throughout the national forests of the State there are thousands more.

Some of these animals were at one time domesticated. They were turned out to forage for themselves and those of the least value were not rounded up. In time many of them became wild and the ones that survived the winters and predatory animals bred with other bands and thus herds were formed. The advent of machinery has caused such a depreciation in values that many horse owners do not make claim. In this case the forest service advertises for sale and the animals are sold to the highest bidder.

What Becomes of the Profits?

Four times a year, 50,000 stockholders receive dividends out of profits accruing from the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Men and women of modest means, hard-working, industrious citizens—a great mass of progressive people from all walks of life—make up the great group which owns the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

No one man or group of men get the profits of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). They go to a vast army of thrifty people—50,000 strong—who have saved and invested their money in Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stock and who take pride in the big business it enjoys because they are joint owners.

A great many of the 50,000 partners of this Company (15,325) carry on the actual work of the organization. The employees own 4.2% of the total stock of this Company, and as a group constitute the second largest stockholding influence in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The ownership of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is democratic in the wide and even distribution of its shares.

Among the 50,000 stockholders of the Company there are no individuals or groups of particular power—none which owns more than 54% of the total stock.

The three largest influences in the Company are the Rockefeller Foundation, the Employees, and the General Education Board.

The profits of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) accruing to the stock owned by the Rockefeller Foundation are distributed to the very ends of the earth, among all peoples of the world, wherever intelligent philanthropies can minister to the needs of man.

For the Rockefeller Foundation is an organization established with the chartered purpose "to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world."

The charter of the Rockefeller Foundation is a pledge of limitless faith in the power of progress, in the triumph of good over evil, of education over ignorance, of brotherly love over selfishness.

The largest stockholder in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—the Rockefeller Foundation—is a charity as deep as human need in its philanthropy, as intelligent as the highest knowledge of the age in its methods, as wide as the world in its scope.

Thus through dividends paid out to 50,000 stockholders, the profits accruing as the inevitable result of big business, efficiently and skillfully managed, are widely distributed over the earth—to a great body of thrifty employees—to a great mass of enterprising citizens—and through the Rockefeller Foundation to the suffering and the needy of the world.

A vision of the part that Standard Oil Company (Indiana) profits play in the well-being of mankind throughout the world gives new meaning to its description as a "big business."

The quality and extent of its service to humanity determines the true bigness of the the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

AMERICAN GOLFERS WIN THREE OF FIRST FOUR WALKER CUP MATCHES

SWEETSER AND GUNN ELIM SCORE EASY VICTORY

Only Defeat for U. S. Team Is Suffered by Quimet and Guilford Who Are Beaten, 4 and 3.

Singles Pairings.

ANDREWS, June 2.—The American golfers won three of the four two-ball foursomes, opening play for the Walker cup today. The only defeat for the United States team was suffered by Francis Quimet and Jesse Guilford who were defeated by Roger Wethered and Sir Ernest Holderness in the two-ball foursomes, 4 and 3 to play.

The first American victory was scored by Jess Sweetser and George von Elm who defeated Robert Harris and Maj. C. O. Hezlet, 4 and 3.

Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn, of Atlanta, defeated Cyril Tolley and Arthur Jamieson Jr., 4 and 3.

Robert A. Gardner of Chicago and Roland Mackenzie of Washington defeated E. F. Storey and W. G. Brownlow, one up.

Gain Big Early Leads.

Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn, the Atlanta pair, had achieved the commanding lead of six holes over Cyril Tolley and Arthur Jamieson Jr. and Robert A. Gardner of Chicago.

The British amateur champion, last week, and George von Elm of Los Angeles, led Robert Harris and Major C. O. Hezlet by two holes.

The fourth American pair, Francis Quimet and Jesse P. Guilford, of Boston, were three down to Roger Wethered and Sir Ernest Holderness.

Sweetser and Von Elm Rally.

The matches were played under ideal weather conditions, the day being mild, with a cloud-flecked sky and almost no wind.

The most sensational feature of the morning was the fine uphill fight of Sweetser and Von Elm, who after being three down at the twelfth, finished the round two up.

On the outward journey the British pair generally played the better game, their approach and putting being notably good.

The Americans began coming back strongly from the eleventh hole to which they were still three down. They won the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth, turning the match by outwitting the Britishers and playing a far better approach game.

Particularly brilliant was Von Elm's approach to the twelfth, which he laid almost dead. Sweetser, who finished the round two up, then lost the birdie.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Meet Mr. Snyder.

STARTER WILLIAM SNYDER sends away seven fields at Fairmount race track daily and little fault is found with any of them.

Probably only a few persons even think of Mr. Snyder in the order of play, as he follows: Jones vs. Tolley.

Sweetser vs. Wethered.

Gunn vs. Brownlow.

Mackenzie vs. Storey.

Gardner vs. Jamieson.

Every person with a ticket on the horse left takes the view BILL SNYDER.

The public's money with it.

The Terrible "Punk."

An umpire's life is a happy one beside a starter's. For, after all, when an umpire is bawled out, it's because of his own errors of judgment.

When a starter fails, in 99 cases out of 100 it's caused by a "punk," otherwise known as a bad actor.

Fairmount track is wide enough for about 12 horses, comfortably. The starter in order to make a perfect "break," must dominate completely 12 jockeys, each with the single thought of taking advantage of him, and 12 horses of more or less uncertain disposition.

To obtain an even break for all is the concern of the starter and his two assistants.

That it's a job and a responsible one is attested by the fact that Snyder's pay is at the rate of something like $150 a day.

The public's money depends upon his ability to a degree that is seldom appreciated by any save the racing association.

Sharpe and Snyder.

HARRY SHARPE, now a business man and occasionally a fight referee, and Bill Snyder learned the starting game together at local tracks 23 years ago.

Sharpe, now dead, they swung the bull whips, waded through the mud and the water.

Sweetser got down a four-footer for a half.

Von Elm was short on his approach shot at the next hole again but Sweetser clipped up dead to the pin to get the necessary half in four.

On the long twenty-third hole, Sweetser played a beautiful iron shot to within three yards of the hole, winning it four to five.

At the twenty-fourth, the Americans were still playing great golf. Von Elm's approach laid a foundation for a birdie three.

Harris was bunkered off his tee shot on the twenty-fifth but Hezlet got to the green. The Americans were on the green in two and sank the ball with two putts, winning four to five.

After the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh had been halved, Von Elm clipped dead at the twenty-eighth for another birdie three.

At the twenty-ninth and final hole Harris was bunkered off the tee and after playing two strokes the Britishers gave up the hole, Sweetser being dead for a three.

MULLEN NOW HAS BOTH CHICAGO PARKS FOR OUTDOOR SHOWS

CHICAGO, June 2.—James Mullen, fight promoter, today announced he has signed an agreement with Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, by which he will be enabled to stage fights in the South Side White Sox Park.

Recently Mullen concluded negotiations by which he will also stage fights in the North Side Cubs baseball park. Mullen is now awaiting approval of the newly-organized State Boxing Commission to announce the dates for some of the fights which will involve championship.

slush in hip boots, were kicked, bitten and thrown around by the wild horses of the day. They went through what is one of the toughest apprenticeships in the sport world.

Sharpe suffered some serious physical mishaps while acting as starter's assistant. Once an ill-tempered mare named Miss May lashed out at him with her heels.

Ordinarily a starter's assistant has remarkable judgment of distance. He has to have, to live. He is usually just out of range of the lightning heels of his charge. If he is caught within range he usually does a surprising thing. He falls right in on the heels of the animal. As a result he is SHOOED off with one suffering a dangerous kick.

Sharpe fell in, but too late. May Day planted her heels in his chest, knocking him out. The horse's shoes cut through Sharpe's clothes. For weeks he had a perfect, red horseshoe stamped on his skin just above his heart.

On another occasion a wild actor that old-timers will remember, Jordan, a vicious mare, struck Sharpe from the front as he was advancing to lead her, knocking him down and planting his feet on his chest. He was rescued in the nick of time.

Sharpe drifted out of the game, when racing here was closed, but Snyder loved it and has followed it to the top. He belongs there too.

Look Out, Jim.

FOR the ninth time this season, James Bottomley of the Cards, yesterday "created the situation known as a home run."

In the game against the Cubs, the blow put him in front of the National League Babe Ruths, and further established this young man as the most dangerous foe of insurance companies and the fast friend of dancing suit lawyers.

It was in "creating a home run situation" some time ago that Bottomley broke a blackerite's nose and cost his club a $2000 verdict.

Bottomley is another vindicator of Branch Rickey as a judge of baseball players. Whatever the public may think of Branch Rickey as a manager, it cannot withhold its approval of his keen eye for talent.

Bottomley and his partner, Sisler, are by no means the only great players in whom Rickey saw the blossom before the bud had opened.

Curlee Defense Tightens.

The final period offered the fastest play of the game and the aggressiveness of both teams resulted in a number of personal fouls. Evelyn Suewe was forced to leave the game during the final period when she committed her fourth personal. Two free throws by Dorothy Brown and a beautiful shot after dribbling the length of the court by Dolores Boeckmann brought the Cards to a total of 12 points, shortly after Connie Smith scored from the field for the Grads at the start of the third period. A free throw by Miss Smith increased the Grads' lead to 16-12 at the close of the session.

Curlees Beaten In First Title Contest, 19-14

Flash in Opening Four Minutes of Play Wins for Edmonton Five.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 2.—The Curlees, St. Louis girl basketball champions, were defeated in the opening game of their world championship series by the Commercial Graduates here last night, 19 to 14, before a crowd of 5000 persons.

The contest was replete with thrills from start to finish.

The second game will be played tomorrow night and following this opening reverse the Curlees girls must win the final by a margin of six points to take the world's title.

In the game last night, the Commercial Graduates took advantage of every scoring opportunity and clinched the contest in the opening four minutes of play, when a whirlwind attack caught the brilliant Curlee defense off guard and four field goals in rapid succession gave the Edmonton quintet a lead that was never relinquished.

The flash went in a long way toward weakening the morale of the St. Louis team.

Curlees "Come Back."

That the Curlee defense was off color during this brief period is shown by the fact that the Graduates were able to count but four field goals during the remainder of the game.

Daisy and Dot Johnson, forwards, and Connie Smith, brilliant center, of the Commercial, who was the individual star of the game, rang up field goals before the game was two minutes old.

Each of these players sinking her first try for goal. Shortly after, Kate Macfarlane, Graduate guard, broke through for a pretty shot from the side of the court.

At this point, the Curlee girls, while holding their own, began to find themselves caged a goal from under the basket. Connie Smith tallied on a free throw to end the scoring for the first quarter.

In the second quarter, the St. Louis five got going at top speed and tallied six points, while holding the Cards to a total of 12 points.

Dorothy Brown, Curlee forward, who shared scoring honors for the team with Dolores Boeckmann, captain and center, who counted six points, dropped through two field goals in this second quarter.

The half ended 13 to 8 in favor of the Grads.

Curlee Defense Tightens.

The final period offered the fastest play of the game and the aggressiveness of both teams resulted in a number of personal fouls.

Evelyn Suewe was forced to leave the game during the final period when she committed her fourth personal. Two free throws by Dorothy Brown and a beautiful shot after dribbling the length of the court by Dolores Boeckmann brought the Cards to a total of 12 points, shortly after Connie Smith scored from the field for the Grads at the start of the third period.

A free throw by Miss Smith increased the Grads' lead to 16-12 at the close of the session.

Ted Lyons, With 9 Victories, After Major Hurling Honors

White Sox Pitcher Has Defeated Cleveland 4 Straight This Season—Jumped From College to Majors Without Bush League Experience.

By John B. Foster.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Ted Lyons, pitcher for the Chicago White Sox and a most promising entry for the title of leading tosser of the right-hand regiment of 1926, is the first major league hurler to win four games from any one club this season.

Lyons has immersed Cleveland in the dip four times and has yet to lose a game to that band of spinning wheels, which sometimes revolve and spark and at other times refuse to twirl and throw out nothing but smoke.

Speaker is accused of taking himself and Jamieson out of the Cleveland batting order because both have a negative reflex which goes to the plate. May be it is Lyons who has driven Speaker to desperation, but there are some solemn old owls who insist that it is smoking which has twisted Speaker's batting eye.

Since there are other old scouts who declare just as solemnly that smoking doesn't go to the eyes but to the other parts of the system, the argument is moving artfully along.

Has Won 9, Lost 3.

To date Lyons has this record: Won one game from Boston, one from the Athletics and four from Cleveland; won two from Detroit and lost one; won one from St. Louis and lost one and lost one to Washington. That makes nine victories and three defeats for April and May. If he could keep this going all season he would finish with a record of more than 39 victories.

It is true that Lyons has made a large part of his record out of his ability to stand Cleveland on its noddle, but this is not out of the ordinary because it has been the history of baseball that the winning pitchers have had one club and usually two, that were woefully weak against them. Christy Mathewson once had the Indian sign on the Phillies and he once more had the Choctaw sign over the Reds. You could count the history of baseball that the winning pitchers have had one club and usually two, that were woefully weak against them.

Dempsey Ready To Meet Wills; Up to Rickard

Commission Orders Champion to Defend His Title Against Negro.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 2.—The plot of the 1926 heavyweight drama, the standing of Jack Dempsey in this State as heavyweight champion, and the fate of Harry Wills as a title contender, today were in the hands of the promoting sphinx, Tex Rickard.

Rickard's delayed arrival here today was expected to bring the climax of a year's word battle in which commissions, promoters, managers and fighters have frequently passed on and off the stage. For Dempsey finally has been ordered by the New York State Athletic Commission to sign articles not later than June 22 for a bout with Wills, in the face of agreements already obtained by Rickard from the champion and Gene Tunney.

WHITE SOX, A TEAM WITH PITCHERS, TO TEST BROWNIE PUNCH TODAY

DETROIT TEAM ROUTED IN 2 OF 3 CONTESTS

Sislermen Capture Second Consecutive Series, Slugging Their Way to Victory; Sisler Steals Home.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Eddie Collins and his Chicago White Sox, who are in the first division with 24 victories and 22 defeats, will test the Brownie punch at Sportman's Park this afternoon. Sisler's men, by wielding devastating bludgeons, have won two consecutive series, taking four straight from the Cleveland Indians and two out of three from the Detroit Tigers. However, the Cleveland and Detroit pitching was about six times as bad as mediocre and so let there be no undue excitement over that Brownie winning streak.

Manager Sisler said recently that his team had been fed up on pennant hopes all spring and that the team cracked under the strain. It also has been noted that whenever unkind words have been said, the Browns have risen from the doldrums to confound the sayer of the unkind words. Therefore let there be more unkind words and perhaps there will be more victories.

It will be interesting to see whether the Browns will continue to hammer the ball when they face Collins' pitchers. If they do, then it will be time to say that the Browns have shaken off the shackles of impotence and really may be taken seriously in their openly avowed intention of smashing their way nearer and nearer the first division. It must be some smash! Milton Gaston probably will be assigned to pitching duty in the first of the two games with the Sox, and it must be said that Gaston is a pretty fair pitcher. If the Browns had a few more like him, it would not be necessary to see so many parades of pitchers through that astigmatic wire screen that guards the press box from foul balls but leaves the eyes easy prey to the misery of seeing foul pitchers, made more foul by the rapidly advancing stages of astigmatism.

The Soap-Cake Walk.

Sisler trotted out Charley Robertson yesterday afternoon in the final of the series with the Tigers, but Charley went for a cake of soap in the first inning. Helmsman started the frame with a single to center and then Robertson walked Warner and Tavenner, filling the bases, and then four more wild ones to Manion, forcing Helmsman over the plate. Sisler then realized that while Robertson was a no-hit pitcher once, he was something else now and needed a bath, and so he called in Chester "Spot" Falk. Falk stopped the rally, thanks to a great double play by Harry Rice and Red Hargrave, and the Texas pitcher pitched very effectively until the sixth, when the Tigers found the range and blasted his offerings for four runs and a tied score.

Undaunted, or at least undaunted,

Another Series.

Mad Play Sold For $90,000, To Be Retired

Hal Price Headley Buys Famous Stake Winner From Sinclair.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Mad Play, winner of the Belmont Stakes as a 3-year-old and of the Brooklyn Handicap and Saratoga Cup among other stakes last season, never again will face the starter. His racing days are over.

Sam Hildreth, acting for the Ranococas Stable, sold the son of Fair Play-Madcap to Hal Price Headley for $90,000 several days ago, and the announcement was made at Belmont Park yesterday.

The horse will be shipped to Kentucky in a few days and retired to the stud. Harry F. Sinclair, owner of the Ranococas Stable, is so well supplied with stallions that he decided to let Mad Play go when Sam Hildreth found that the good horse would not stand training this year. Mad Play was rated highly among the handicap horses a year ago, when he won seven out of 13 races and never was unplaced. Many considered him second only to Sarazen, which beat him, among others, in the third international special at Latonia in 1924. In that race Epinaur, the French horse, beat Mad Play only a head for second money.

After winning the Saratoga Cup in August last summer, the horse went wrong, suffering tendon trouble. Just as Hildreth had him ready for a race, however, the weak tendon again bowed slightly, and rather than run the chance of breaking him down permanently, advised Mr. Sinclair to sell him or send him back to the farm.

Mad Play is a full brother to old Mad Hatter and has ever been one of the most honest and consistent horses in training.

Miss Isabel Levi of St. Louis has been named swimming captain for next year and Miss Margaret Callahan will be a member of the squad. She won the most points in the novice meet and the Women's Athletic Association meet and is a member of the Red Cross Life Saving Corps and captain of the freshman swimming team.

Miss Dixie Miller of St. Louis, Miss Carolyn Dziatko of Webster Groves and Miss Beverly Trencott of Overland are members of the varsity baseball team.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 2.—Fred Major of Champaign led the University of Illinois baseball team in hitting during the Big Ten season with a mark of .567 in 13 games. Capt. Joy Jordan of Clinton, Ill., took the honor away from Major over the entire season's schedule of 25 games. Jordan hit for a mark of .447 and Major hit .441.

Benefit for Bill Bailey.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, June 2.—Omaha defeated Des Moines, 15 to 6, here yesterday in a benefit game for Bill Bailey, veteran Omaha southpaw, who was stricken with stomach hemorrhages during the spring training season. He recently was released from a Houston, Tex., sanitarium, where he was confined for more than two months. Bailey pitched for the St. Louis Browns a number of years ago.

Greb Extended To Beat Weigand

Latter Is Best in Early Rounds but Former Champ Gets Verdict.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 2.—Harry Greb, former middleweight champion, was extended to his best efforts to win the decision from Art Weigand, local boxer, in 19 rounds here last night.

Newspaper men at the ringside gave Weigand the first four rounds, called the fifth even and gave Greb the remainder. Weigand was the aggressor in the first four rounds and frequently forced the former champion to the ropes. His early efforts caused him to tire in the later rounds, when Greb scored sufficient points to give him the advantage.

Greb was served with a court order yesterday directing him to appear June 4 in Supreme Court, New York City, to show cause why he should not be suspended from fighting in the State for dismissing his former manager, James Mason, and employing James Johnson to handle his affairs. The suit, brought by Mason, charges Greb violated a contract by dismissing him without cause. The State Boxing Commission has ruled the contract was not binding upon the fighter.

Morgan Faces a Dangerous Foe

Junior Lightweight Champion May Run into a Knock-out.

By Fairplay.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Tod Morgan will get a chance to show a metropolitan audience the reason why he now holds the junior lightweight title which he won from Mike Ballerino last winter. He will be called upon to risk his bauble against the deadening punches of Kid Sullivan, the former title holder, tomorrow night.

There are some who maintain that Sullivan is not a fair test for the new champion. Judging from his five-round knockout at the hands of Kid Kaplan and the lack of class he showed it looks as though Sullivan may have shot his bolt.

It may be true, but he still has a punch that has speed and power for his size and slow as he may be and crude in his method of delivery, he is always dangerous so long as he stands on his feet.

Morgan has given evidence of be-himself in danger. For if Tod sees he can get in his left without a return and gets careless the Kid is apt to cross his right and end the Westerner's roseate dreams. Sullivan sure can hit with his right and he is a glutton for punishment. He has never been known to quit under fire and unless Morgan carries a sufficient kick out him out of action, Sullivan always be dangerous. Irrespective of the merits of a new champion, Morgan, it must be said that he does not possess the punch of the late Pepper Martin whose sling shot punch had enough force to drop any one it hit.

LOSES 6-YEAR FIGHT AGAINST DEPORTATION

Efficient kick on Sullivan.

the merits of the man, it must not possess the "Pepper Martin" which had enough one it hit.

Vojnovic, former St. Louis butcher, yesterday lived the last step in his six-year fight to stave off deportation as a communist and member of a society advocating the overthrow of the Government.

The United States Supreme Court refused to review decisions by Federal district courts at St. Louis and New York which upheld immigration officials in ordering him returned to Yugoslavia.

Vojnovic, who is now 40 years old, lived at 1896 South Fourteenth street. He opened his own house in 1919, testified he had a bank account of $2000.

Despite these property holdings, Department of Justice agents found that he was recording secretary of the "South Slavic Confederation," a communistic organization. Magazines of the society, preaching anarchy, were found in Vojnovic's home.

About 85 men were arrested here and in East St. Louis in the raids that brought Vojnovic into custody. 45 of them were deported. Vojnovic elected to fight deportation.

He sought a writ of habeas corpus of Judge Faris here but the judge refused it, holding that as a member of an organization which advocated the overthrow of the Government, Vojnovic might be deported.

The butcher then appealed to the United States Court of Appeals which upheld Judge Faris. A second appeal for habeas corpus at New York suffered a like fate and appeal was then had to the highest court.

MAN AND WOMAN SLAIN AT CHICAGO ROADHOUSE

Another Woman Also Wounded When Shotgun Volley Rattles Their Auto.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 2.—A man and a woman were shot and killed and another woman was seriously wounded by unidentified assailants who opened fire just after the three had emerged from the Derby Inn, a roadhouse in Homewood, a suburb, early today. James Lombardo, a jeweler, and Mrs. Crystal Barker were killed by a volley that rattled the automobiles they were about to enter. Mrs. Violet Bass, wounded, crawled back to the inn and called help.

Police questioned Mrs. Bass, but obtained no clue to the identity of the slayers or their motive.

Miss Margaret Quintenz later disclosed that she was in the party which included the slain pair, and that their car had been followed when they left a cafe earlier to go to the roadhouse. She named a man she said was in the trailing car, according to police.

A shotgun was found in shrubbery across the road from the scene of the shooting.

ABOLITION OF MILITARY TRAINING IN SCHOOLS URGED

Report Says Apparent Purpose of War Department Is to Drill All Boys Over 14.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 2.—The abolition of compulsory military training in the schools and colleges of Massachusetts is urged in a survey by the Massachusetts committee on militarism in education and signed by college presidents, clergymen and lawyers.

The report charges that the purpose of the War Department "apparently is to put military training into one school after another, until all boys over 14 years of age enrolled in educational institutions of the United States are being drilled to take part in war."

Plans for the extension of military training are branded as "un-American and out of keeping with the times."

The report is signed among others by President Neilson of Smith College, Dean Pound of the Harvard Law School, Bishop William F. Anderson of the Methodist Episcopal Church, President Woolley of Mount Holyoke College, Judge George W. Anderson of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

"Accompanying this tremendous increase in military education," says the report, "we find no evidence of any adequate instruction in the United States of many kinds now being made to eliminate the causes of war and to insure the peaceful settlement of international disputes."

MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT AT OUTS WITH MRS. CARRIE C. CATT

Break Due to Rejection by International Woman's Suffrage Alliance of National Woman's Party.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 2.—Blame for the action of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, Congress in refusing to admit to membership the National Woman's Party was laid at the door of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, honorary president of the National League of Women Voters, by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, president of the National Woman's Party, upon her arrival in Paris. With Doris Stevens, vice president of the party, nodding assent, she said:

"I see nothing but Mrs. Catt's influence in the action of the alliance. Personally I do not regret the refusal to admit the National Woman's Party, but I had hoped the solidarity of the women of the world."

Mrs. Catt, who is the founder of the alliance and was international president for 19 years, was prevented by illness from attending the congress. Despite her absence, her opposition is given as one reason for the board of the alliance recommending that the National Woman's Party should not be admitted over the protest of the League of Women Voters, a member of the organization.

Mrs. Belmont said: "I do not admit the methods, advice or influence of Mrs. Catt. I regret that the unsympathetic action of the alliance gives unsympathetic women a handle against the cause."

Mrs. Belmont went on to assert that Mrs. Catt was the main support of the alliance through contributions from the Leslie millions, of which she was the sole dispenser.

"Mrs. Catt," she said, "contributed 50,000 francs toward the expenses of the congress, with the understanding that the French raise an equal amount. I told Mrs. Malaterre-Sollier that I would give the amount. But since the National Woman's Party is not wanted," Mrs. Belmont left the sentence unfinished.

TWO ADMIT KILLING WOMAN

Wife of Former Editor Was Slain by Burglars in Buffalo, N. Y.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 2.—The murder of Mrs. John A. Telford, wife of a former Pittsburg editor, during a robbery here in April, 1924, has been solved by the confession of two men under arrest here, the police announced today. The men who made confessions are Mariano Leggio and Samuel Mazzi, both of Buffalo.

In their confession the pair implicated William McKenna, now serving a term in the Auburn prison, and Don Zippello. The men were arrested recently for questioning in connection with robberies and, according to detectives, made admission which linked them with the Telford murder. On further questioning they confessed to having shot down Mrs. Telford as she came down stairs to investigate the noise they were making in ransacking their Exeter Terrace home, police said. Telford moved to Buffalo from Beaver Falls, Pa., two years before the murder. He published a newspaper in that city for some time and was engaged in the automobile business here. He died here recently.

Prospects for both wheat and oat crops are above the average.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, June 2.—The campaign of extermination carried out against the Moro outlaws of Lanao district, Mindanao, by the Philippine constabulary, has practically achieved its purpose, according to officials here. Reports show that the two weeks' campaign has scattered the outlaws, killed many of their chieftains, reduced more than half a dozen of their mountain strongholds and caused the loss of most of their arms and ammunition. The Moro losses are placed at 140 dead, while the constabulary casualties have totaled seven killed. During the last three days 40 outlaws were killed and 50 wounded without the loss of a man by the constabulary.

PONZI GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE

He Wins Court Asking for 10 Days' Delay in Resentence.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 2.—Charles Ponzi, former financial wizard, was given another chance by the courts today. Judge Fosdick, in Superior Court, ordered withdrawn a default warrant issued yesterday when Ponzi failed to appear for sentence, after losing his appeal, and gave Ponzi until next Monday to present himself in court.

Ponzi, convicted by the State courts as a "common and notorious thief," because of his operations in Boston, appealed from a sentence of from seven to nine years' imprisonment. The Court overruled his exceptions, and yesterday was set for resentence. A bail bond of $10,000 was declared forfeited. In a telegram from Jacksonville, Fla., last night, Ponzi informed Judge Fosdick that he had only yesterday of the court order, and asked 10 days' delay.

ARMAMENT COMPUTATIONS EXCLUDE TRAINED RESERVES

French Win Point at Preparatory Meeting; Germany and U. S. Do Not Vote.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, June 2.—The French were victorious at the meeting of the military subcommittee of the Preparatory Disarmament Commission today, when the committee voted that trained reserves should not be included in any computation of peace-time armaments.

The German delegate expressed opposition to the French stand and abstained from voting. The delegate of the United States also abstained on the ground that the matter primarily affected Europe.

The formula as adopted declares that peace-time effective are military, naval and air forces "under colors," and also the gendarmerie, "steady guards and police organized as a military basis."

SENATORS TO OPPOSE TILSON FOR GEORGIA FEDERAL JUDGE

Appointment of Connecticut Congressman's Brother Would Start Row, They Say.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Prospects for the appointment to a Georgia Federal judgeship of Joseph Tilson of Atlanta, brother of Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the House Republican leader, has stirred up a rumormongering in the Georgia congressional delegation, led by Senators Harris and George of that State.

Both have protested to President Coolidge and Attorney-General Sargent against the selection of Tilson and have promised a vigorous fight to prevent confirmation.

Today Senator Harris asserted it was "nothing short of an outrage that a man in Connecticut can dictate the appointment of a Federal Judge in Georgia." He also declared Tilson lived outside the territory embraced within the judicial district which has just been created.

A Player-Piano Does Even More for Your Children Than It Does for You

For You—

IF you have never learned to play the Piano, a Player-Piano will enable you to play any piece according to your own interpretation of it. Thus, without musical training, you may happily gratify your love for music with any selections you wish from the great store of musical compositions.

If you do play the Piano and reading new music to the point of playing it well occupies too much of your time, the Player-Piano is a short cut to the unrestricted enjoyment of much music of which you would ordinarily deprive yourself.

For Your Children—

A PLAYER-PIANO makes a musical center of the home. Children are reared under the influence of instrumental and vocal music. It supplements the musical training at school. It carries on the fine impression created by melodious sounds. It develops distaste for noise. It fosters richer affection for the father and mother who appreciate the artistic yearnings of their children.

A Player-Piano is easily operable by the smallest child. Such a child instinctively prefers good music and frequently renders it with excellent taste. A Player-Piano insures the development of children of character, willing and anxious to heed the call of school and its responsibilities.

Your children have every right to a musical education

TWO TYPES OF PLAYER-PIANOS

FOOT PROPELLED

This is the Upright style. The Player is built in and is an integral part of the instrument. It is fine mechanism and is easily, almost unconsciously, propelled. It is the favorite instrument of music in countless homes. It costs little more than a good ordinary Piano.

PURELY AUTOMATIC

This is the reproducing type. Plug in on the house current, insert the reproducing roll and listen to Paderewski and hundreds of the world's famous pianists. The tempo and expression are automatically controlled. In Upright and Grand Piano styles.

Buy a well known make. Convenient terms may be had wherever standard make Pianos are sold, with your old Piano or Phonograph, appraised at a fair value, accepted as part payment

PRICES UP FUELS ACROSS STOCK TRADE

Improvement Follows Irregular Early Market—Easier Tone in Money—Specialties Advance.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 2.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Operations for the rise were resumed in the stock market today with an expansion in volume. An improvement in credit conditions apparently was largely responsible for the upturn. Traders who had sold for a decline were quick to change to the buying side after early irregularity and the leading favorites such as General Electric, U. S. Steel, General Motors, DuPont and Atlantic Refining worked higher. The easier tone in money was reflected in increasing activity in bonds. Rail issues were in general good demand, while foreign government bonds worked under a head breeze. Strength in General Motors stock was attributed to a report of the sale of preferred stock at 118 a share.

"Specialties Attract Attention.

"Among the specialties that attracted attention were Foundation Co., American Brake Shoe and Foundry, Loew's and American Ice, American Locomotive and Pullman. American Locomotive and Pullman showed strength again while Baldwin improved its position. Rail shares were somewhat irregular, although Nickel Plate and Chesapeake and Ohio were well supported. Atchafalaya shares were under pressure, however, and slipped back to 124, six points below the recent peak. Oil stocks were in fairly good demand, but Texas Co. led the group with a brisk rise in heavy buying. Atlantic Refining maintained a firm tone. Standard industrial held generally steady, with steel stocks rallying after an early setback.

"Easier Money Cheers Street.

"Indications of a return to normal credit conditions imparted a more cheerful feeling in commission house circles and encouraged operations for the rise in professional quarters. Several normally inactive specialties came to life with wide advances, providing evidence that the market was turning from their doldrums. With a resumption of an upward trend in prices the volume of business expanded and dealers were considerably larger than yesterday, especially in the afternoon when several favorites among pool operators were reported active. Review of the steel industry revealed an expected slight decrease in pig iron production, but a fairly satisfactory volume of business is still being handled, it was indicated. Reports of increased equipment buying formed a favorable factor.

"Exchange Prices Mixed.

"Trading in foreign exchanges was in small volume and movements were mixed. Sterling lost a small fraction and French francs eased off in the face of likelihood of a favorable vote in the House on the French debt funding plan which it was believed would be followed at no distant date by a French loan here. Belgian and Italian exchanges were higher, while Danish crowns forged ahead to a new top for the year. Norwegian exchange was strong for a time, but lost its advance.

"Commodity Prices Again Lower.

"Prices drifted to lower levels in the principal commodity markets after an early show of strength. July wheat contracts fell more than a bushel, while September contracts were unchanged. Corn was well supported, however, and recorded a small gain. Cotton prices slipped back slightly in quiet trading.

"Heads Midwest Refining Co.

"CHICAGO, June 2.—T. A. Dwyer, who has been president of the Midwest Refining Co., has been made chairman of the board, and John D. Clark, who has been vice president and assistant to the chairman of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, has been elected president of the Midwest, it was learned here today.

"Increase in Oil Production.

"NEW YORK, June 2.—The daily average crude oil production in the United States increased 22,200 barrels for the week ending May 29, totaling 2,019,500 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

WILD GESE

CHAPTER NINE

Everyone, including Lind, to whom the tyranny was rather novel, was at breakfast at half past five.

There was this to be said about the enforced early rising: You saw the unbelievable dawn whether you wished to or not. It unfolded like a vast flower over the edge of the horizon. The earth was clear and dark under it, as if seen through blue glass. One was aware for the first time of standing on a sphere that moved rhythmically through space. It was an hour of crystal-clear perceptions.

But breakfast was a bleak affair. Ellen was pale from the pain in her foot, and Amelia torn between mother solicitude and the submission she had learned through her trying wifehood. Caleb and Martin talked about the sale of the cattle; no mention was made of Judith's steer, although Martin resolved to see that she was given one in its place.

Judith sullenly hurried out after she had had a cup of coffee, and began to pitch manure into the cart. Her hands were still swollen and sore, but pride kept her from complaining. If Ellen could stand it for Amelia's sake, she could.

Ellen and Martin drove away with the steers before the Teacher could say good-by to them.

She ran out and watched them disappear down the road, Martin stooped over on the wagon seat like an old, tired man, Ellen sitting rather too stiff to be natural.

And Caleb Gare left to attend a business meeting of the church at Yellow Post. Although it took time from his own affairs, it pleased him to be one of the trustees of the church, as he was of the school. The pleasure came mainly from seeing that none of the other guardians of the church funds abused the trust placed in them.

It was because he had a little suspicion concerning Bjorn Aronson, who was treasurer of the church funds, that he went to the meeting that particular day.

He watched the younger brother of Fusi Aronson narrowly throughout the meeting, in which it was taken for granted that the money Bjorn was intrusted with lay safely in the strong box at the Aronson farm. Caleb saw no reason why Bjorn, at this time of the year, should have been able to buy three head of pure bred Jersey cattle from that infidel, Klovack, who did not even belong to the church. Caleb had singled out the new cattle in the herd, and had recognized them at once.

After the meeting he stepped up behind Bjorn, who was untying his horses from the hitching post. "See you have some Jerseys," he said, tapping the young man on the shoulder. Bjorn started. Caleb smiled.

"Ya-a, sure," said Bjorn. "Get 'em at the Siding?" "Na-a-ow. Bought from Klovack. He needed the money, before he goes away," Bjorn said. His eyes traveled down the road. Caleb smiled again, balancing back on his heels thoughtfully. Bjorn got into his wagon and drove down toward Yellow Post proper, giving his horses the whip.

Bjorn was not the man his brother was, but because Fusi was honest. Outside of that, the blood ran all the way through the family. There they made their little mistake, Caleb thought, congratulating himself upon having discovered a stain upon the Aronson escutcheon, which he might with ease lay his finger on. No, he had long known that Bjorn was not the boy his brother was. Bjorn had not even troubled to learn English with the pains that Fusi had given to it. Caleb would pay a little visit to Fusi on the way home, he decided.

There was another little matter that Caleb thought it would be advantageous to attend to. He got into his cart, climbed to the horse and headed him in the direction of the Klovacks' homestead. The day was pleasant and Caleb was in an exceedingly good humor. By turning his head westward he could look upon his own fields, already green and promising. On the east lay the straggling, stony land of Anton Klovack, with his few acres of miserable timothy. He laughed at the irony that lay in Mark Jordan's coming to this morose patch of land, all that Anton Klovack, with rarest good luck pending upon the granting of the Government title, would leave in his will a few short months hence!

Caleb turned into the narrow, infrequently-used wood road that led past Anto Klovack's place. He drove slowly, and let the wheels run on the grass alongside, so that there would be as little sound as possible from them. He craned his neck to see all that he could of the Klovacks' place.

It was months since he had talked with Anton, but he had heard at Yellow Post that the man was falling fast and was leaving very soon for the city where a great specialist was to examine him. But that was only corroborated the statement of Bart Nugent, who in his last letter had told Caleb that Mark Jordan was leaving at once to tend to Klovack's homestead during his absence. Bart was a clever man, and he had done Caleb a life-long service, never suspecting to what purpose.

Bart had fondly thought that Caleb had Mark's interest at heart because of Amelia. A veterinary surgeon and a keeper of stables, Bart had managed to continue his acquaintance with Mark Jordan in a friendly fashion even after the war, and had faithfully reported every move that the young man made. Caleb chuckled to himself when he reviewed the situation. Bart had been a good sort. But now—

Caleb removed his last letter from his vest pocket, together with the one from the hospital which had forwarded it to him. He shook his head, and a look came into his eyes that was seldom seen there. It was the look of the old when they hear of the passing of the old. Amelia must never learn that Bart Nugent was gone. For it was Bart and his assiduous reporting on Mark that she feared. Bart was Caleb's only connection with the outer world. Even if Amelia did learn of Mark's presence on the Klovack farm, she must never know that Bart Nugent was dead. Mark Jordan would return to the city, and Caleb would lose all trace of him, but that Amelia must never know. For that would mean an end to Amelia's fear.

Caleb skulked along in the cart, close to the alder bushes that were flowering like creamy curds between the road and the Klovacks' farm. He heard the voices of two men who were approaching on the opposite side of the fence. One voice was ready and high as a child's, almost with the thin wall of wind in a chimney; the other was rich and controlled, full of another kind of youth. Caleb at once hated the deep assurance in the second voice. He knew by instinct that it was Mark Jordan's. The other was that of Anton Klovack, dying of consumption with his feet on Government soil.

Through the thick weave of the bushes, Caleb caught a glimpse of the two men. Jordan was tall and broad, Anton Klovack still taller and as narrow as a pine board. His shoulders were scoop-shaped, his face all gone to cheek bones and hollows. "God, how he looks!" said Caleb to himself. Disease—destruction—things that he feared—things out of man's control.

As the men passed, Caleb turned his head and followed the form of Mark Jordan until his eyes ached from the strain. Pah, how like his father he was—walking like he was God Almighty! The furious jealousy of Caleb's earlier years came into his heart again like a ravaging disease long checked and now broken out more violently than ever. Bared-headed, he sat in the cart with his long arms stretched rigid down between his knees, his hands clasped together. The reins hung loose, the horse pawed impatiently at the ground. A cat-bird in the nearest alder bush made a quivering little sound. But Caleb sat on, oblivious to all about him. Not his son, not his son, that handsome lad! The son of Amelia and big Del Jordan, who was gored by a bull, Caleb's sons—Caleb's children, what were they? Well born, it was true, and not out of wedlock. But twisted and gnarled and stunted as the growth on the bush land he owned, and barren as had been his acres before he had put his own life's blood into them for a meager yield. Caleb's head slipped down until his chin touched his chest. The soft wind moved in his ears of hair, and in the invisible touch was a gesture of infinite pity.

Caleb turned into the farmyard of Fusi Aronson. His face was lined with hard mirth. He had come upon a choice errand. The great Icelandic stode down to meet him, and bade him a stiff good day.

"I hear Bjorn has bought some cattle from Klovack," Caleb began smoothly, discounting from the cart. "He must be well off this spring."

"It was in settlement of a debt Klovack owed him," Fusi replied shortly.

Caleb laughed. "Oh, no, it wasn't. Fusi, Klovack got good money in return for those same Jerseys."

Fusi started. "What do you mean, Mr. Gare?"

Caleb stepped closer to the Icelandic and lifted his eyebrows meaningly.

"Of course he'll put the money back in the strong box, Fusi. The church needs it, you know," he said gently, laying his finger on the bib of the big man's overalls. He turned to go.

"Of course," he added, "you needn't fear that I'm going to steal."

Fusi, in his heavy way, was looking at him uncertainly, not quite grasping the thing. Then the slow red surged up into his face: He knotted his huge fists and lunged toward Caleb.

"Take your time, Fusi, take your time," Caleb mocked. "Look in the strong box first. And, by the way, when you are ready to deal with me about that timber down there between my hayfields, let me know. The sooner the better for me."

He mounted the cart and drove away.

To Be Continued.

SECRETS OF HEALTH AND SUCCESS

BY CHARLES A. L. REED, M.D.
FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

YOUR ability to anthrax is kept low by the vigilance of the United States Department of Agriculture through its quarantine against the importation of infected animals.

It, however, is a germ disease and occasionally gets in because the germ is hidden in wool, bones and other animal products, all of which are in great demand in civilized countries, a large proportion being obtained from countries where anthrax is prevalent and where no attempt is made to deal with it.

Experience shows that all materials derived from these countries are dangerous and liable to convey the infection, which may spread to other goods and cause anthrax among transport workers.

The process of manufacture from these raw materials causes anthrax among industrial workers and the effluents from the factories may carry it to farms and agriculture in the neighborhood. Furthermore, the finished products, particularly shaving brushes, may cause anthrax among the general public.

When it thus occurs in the human subject it takes the form of carbuncles of a vicious sort called "malignant pustule."

All civilized countries enforce measures for preventing the spread of anthrax in agriculture, but none can prevent the continual introduction of fresh anthrax in imported animal products.

Regulations for preventing anthrax among the workers are both expensive and ineffectual. Distillation is a highly technical process which can only be applied successfully by experts and which in private factories, such as those in, for example, the horsehair trade, gives no protection.

To be successful it must be applied in special stations as early as possible after the material has started its journey, preferably at points such as the port of export where it collects naturally in the course of trade. It would be almost impossible for one country to arrange this, but an international agreement would make it a simple and really effective preventive, not only of industrial anthrax, but of its constant reintroduction into the agriculture of the civilized world. Failing this, the next best place disinfecting stations would be at the ports of entry.

The prevention of industrial anthrax is, however, not a simple question that can be considered by itself, but consists of several questions only related by the fact that infection is due to the presence of anthrax spores in the kind of material. There are several different branches of wool and again of horsehair and of hides, skins, bones, horns and hoofs.

All these different kinds of material demand different treatment. Workers are to be protected from material infected in the country of origin. All highly organized countries prevent the spread of infection by precautions which include the complete destruction of the infected bodies of animals which have died from anthrax or have been suspected of contact, and often the vaccination of flocks and herds.

So long, however, as animal products are imported from countries that do not adopt these precautions and are not disinfected, all our efforts to stamp out agricultural anthrax will be stultified year by year and we shall continue to suffer from it and from a certain incidence among the public.

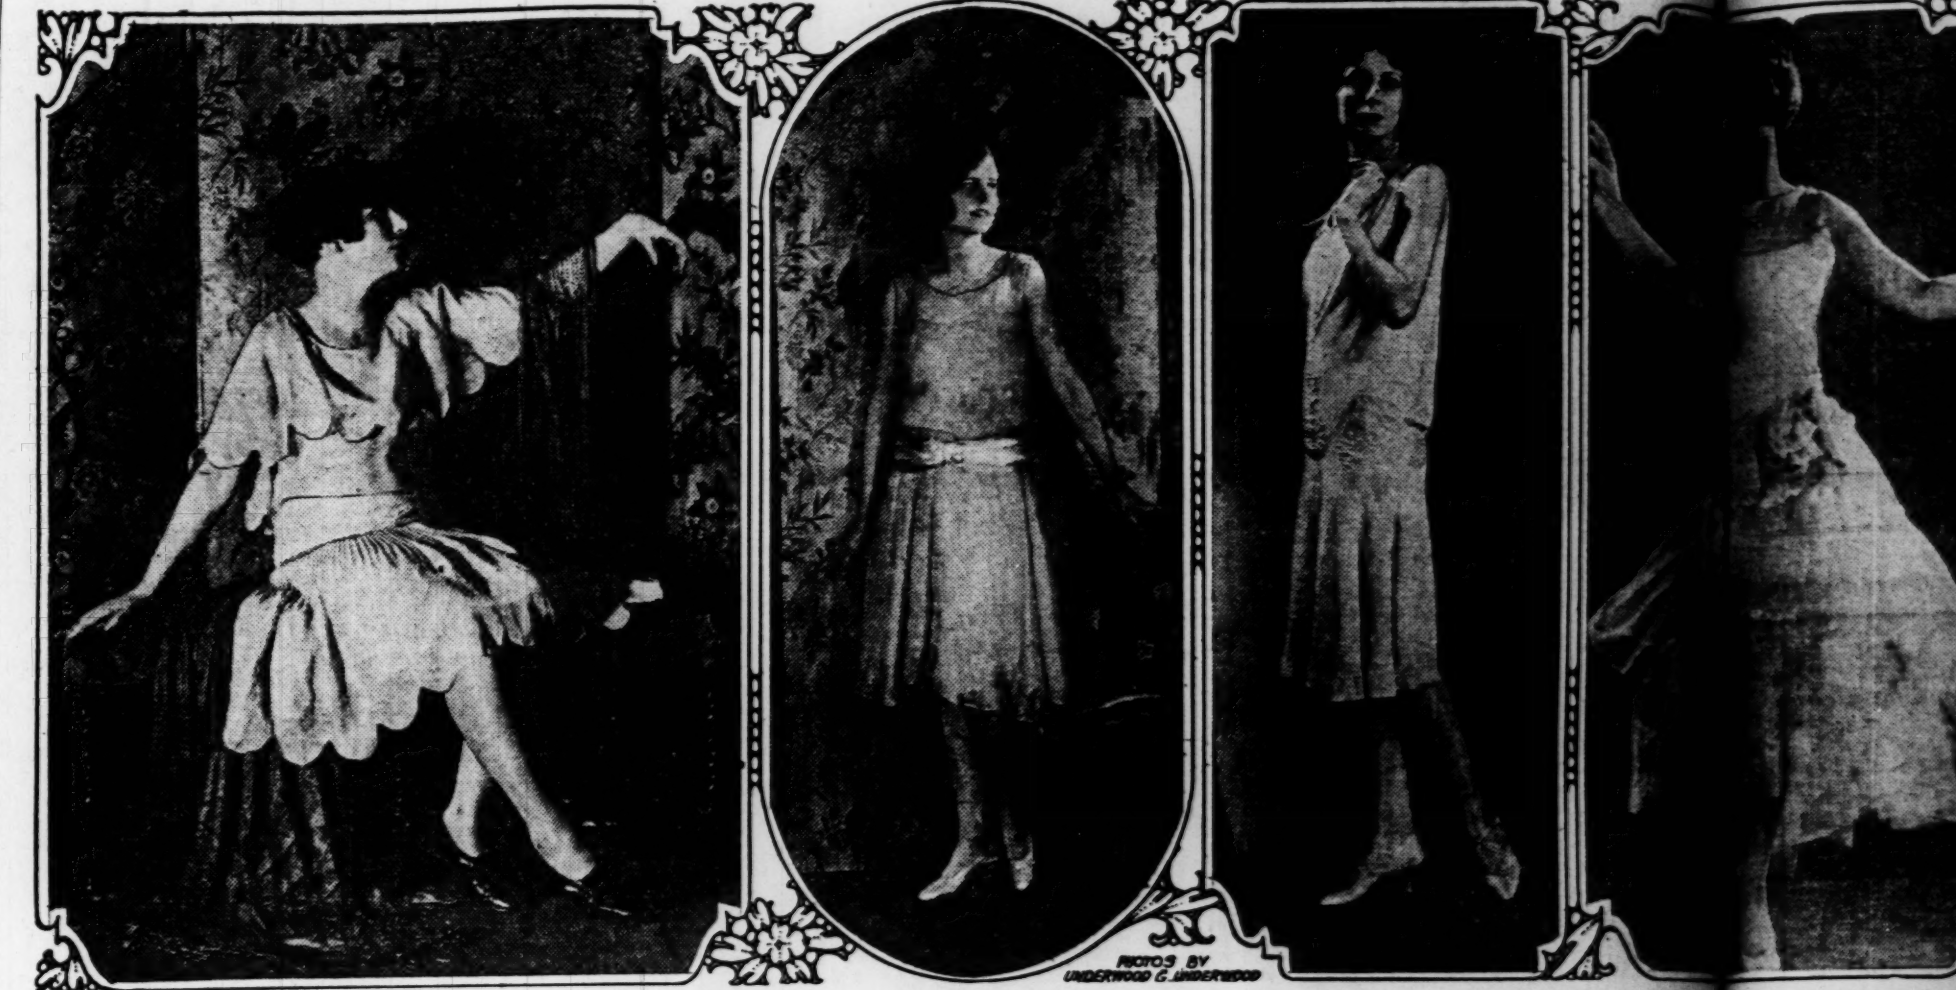

Apart from agricultural measures, there are only two effective means of preventing anthrax in any country which imports raw animal products: prohibition of imports from backward countries and disinfection of the products in central stations.

DAINTY FROCKS FOR SUMMER WEAR

Second—Evening dress of pale rose georgette over crepe de chine, with flare full skirt and gypsy girdles.

Third—Delicate satin slippers dyed to match the delicately colored frock will be smart this season. With this pale mauve chiffon trimmed in rhinestones at the hip line the wearer has chosen mauve slippers trimmed in rhinestones. A narrow piping of silver kid is also used, and mauve stockings, as sheer as possible, are a new note. The more economically-minded woman might have worn equally smart slippers in a silver brocade patterned in delicate colors, a choice which would go with other dresses as well.

Right—Girlish evening gown for the warm evenings. It is made of green tulle and green moire with a tight-fitting bodice. The roses are of green velvet placed around the skirt, making the ensemble very effective.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Mud Stains.
Mud-stained garments will look like new if, after thoroughly brushing the spots with a stiff brush, they are rubbed with a piece of raw potato.

An Improved Cedar Chest.
If you have a window seat in one of your rooms, why not have it lined with cedar boards and serve as a safe chest for storing clothing and woolsens.

Packed Lunches.
If you are in the habit of packing lunches every day, keep all the things pertaining to them in the same place and pack the lunches right where the oil paper, paper napkins, etc., are convenient. It means much speedier work.

A Cleaner Look.
If the top of your kitchen table is of wood, cover it with white oil-cloth, stretch tightly and tack on the underneath side. You will be surprised how much cleaner and brighter the kitchen will seem.

Finish One Shade First.
When embroidering in many different colors try doing all the work in one shade first. It will save a great deal of time in changing silks and needles.

Seen on Fifth Avenue.
A new interpretation of the tailleur has a jacket of black cloth and skirt of novelty woolen. The suits often have full-length coats matching the skirt.

What Comes With Marriage to a Count

The Historic Family Jewels and Title are But Baubles a Girl Can Use But Never Really Own.

By WINIFRED BLACK

AND now the Countess, senior, wants her family jewels back and the Countess, junior, doesn't want to return them.

And the Count may be divorced from his wife.

He didn't get any of the rich American's money, after all—and there you are.

All the innocent Americans who are misled by the Countess, junior, who looks at matters as we look at them here in the United States are gazing at each other in amazement, saying: "Well, did you ever! Couldn't get along with his wife and she's reported to be seeking a divorce from him. Now his mother wants the family jewels back, after the Count gave them to his wife and everything."

All the Europeans, who look at life from the European point of view, are drawing a bewildered breath and saying: "What is the matter with those Americans? Of all the greedy, grasping, why, they took the Count's title and his family jewels and now they're going to get rid of the Count and keep the title and the jewels, anyhow! Did you ever hear anything like it?"

And neither the shocked Americans nor the thunderstruck Europeans have the faintest idea of what the other means.

My sympathies are just a little bit with the Count and his mother. After all, family jewels don't belong to anybody in particular, they belong to the family; they aren't meant to be owned by any one woman or any one man.

When you marry a Count, you marry not Jim or George or William—you marry the Count and the traditions and customs that go with them.

And when you get rid of him, it seems to me you ought to let him have his traditions and his customs and his ideas and his title and his jewels to take back home with him.

Over here it's Mary and John and that's that. Mary marries John because she's in love with him or she thinks she is, or because he's rich or because he's popular and the other girls would like to marry him, and Mary's parents and John's parents have nothing to do with the case.

And when Mary gets tired of John, she just walks away and leaves him, or when John gets tired of Mary, he simply says so, and Mary gets a divorce—and that's that.

Things are not so simple in other parts of the world. Marriage is not a matter of personal caprice there. It's the family there. Not so romantic, maybe, but somehow they often seem to last a good deal better than ours.

What are two people, anyhow, in the long run, with their tempers and their naggings and their jealousies? Fifty years from now who cares whether they were happy together or not?

WHAT PRICE HOME RUNS?
THOUGH he may get a bump upon the bean, Or, on the nose by falling balls be hit, A fan will never sit behind a screen If he can find some other place to sit; For, he can always sue for damage done him In case a soaring ball should fall upon him.

So, therefore, it can readily be seen, To empty seats the teams would have to play; For, if they had to sit behind a screen, The customers would rather stay away. And so, while damages may be collected, It wouldn't pay to have the screens erected.

The boys should then hew strictly to the line, And let the pellets fall where'er they may;

What, though some noses they incarnadine, Somebody has to pay and pay and pay. Stand not upon the price of home-run blows— The owner has to pay it through his nose.
